Time Use Research in the Social Sciences Wendy E. Pentland,M. Powell Lawton,Andrew S. Harvey,Mary Ann McColl,2007-05-08 Despite the fact that for most of us time is a central focus of our lives the examination of what we do with our time and why has received limited attention as a method for understanding human behavior in the social sciences Humans view and use of time shows tremendous variation including across cultures and with age lifestyle and gender For many of us a sense of time is ever present We speak of time as a commodity a resource an ally an enemy and a gift It maybe on our side on our hands with us or against us We perceive it to change speeds dragging vs flying vs standing still and lest it get away on us we attempt to harness and control it with clocks schedules and deadlines We describe our use of time in a myriad of ways we spend it save it waste it kill it give it take it and grab it The impetus for this book grew from a three day research symposium where established time use researchers from a variety of disciplines from Canada the United States Finland Australia and New Zealand gathered together to merge their knowledge and resources to collaborate in examining the relationship between human time utilization and health and well being We gratefully acknowledge the financial support for the symposium received from the Government of Canada s Program for International Research Linkages and M Powell Lawton without whose support and encouragement this book would likely not exist Risk Deborah Lupton,2013-07-04 Risk second edition is a fully revised and expanded update of a highly cited influential and well known book It reviews the three major approaches to risk in social and cultural theory devoting a chapter to each one These approaches were first identified and described by Deborah Lupton in the original edition and have since become widely used as a categorisation of risk perspectives The first draws upon the work of Mary Douglas to articulate the cultural symbolic perspective on risk The second approach is that of the risk society perspective based on the writings of Ulrich Beck and Anthony Giddens The third approach explored here is that of the governmentality perspective which builds on Michel Foucault s work Other chapters examine in detail the relationship between concepts of risk and concepts of selfhood and the body the notion of Otherness and how this influences the ways in which people respond to and think about risk and the pleasures of voluntary risk taking including discussion of edgework This new edition examines these themes in relation to the newly emerging threats of the twenty first century such as climate change extreme weather events terrorism and global financial crises It will appeal to students and scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities Trust and Conflict Ivana Marková,Alex Gillespie,2011-08-17 Trust and Conflict offers a fresh perspective on the problems that arise from treating trust distrust and conflict as simplified indicators Handbook of Human and Social Conditions in Assessment Gavin T.
