Freedom Is Not Enough Nancy MacLean, 2008-03-15 MacLean shows how African American and Mexican American civil rights activists and feminists concluded that freedom alone would not suffice; access to jobs at all levels is a requisite of full citizenship. Bathroom Battlegrounds Alexander K. Davis, 2020-01-28 Today's debates about transgender inclusion and public restrooms may seem unmistakably contemporary, but they have a surprisingly long and storied history in the United States, one that concerns more than mere potty politics. Alexander K. Davis takes readers behind the scenes of two hundred years worth of conflicts over the existence, separation, and equity of gendered public restrooms, documenting at each step how bathrooms have been entangled with bigger cultural matters: the importance of the public good, the reach of institutional inclusion, the nature of gender difference, and above all, the myriad privileges of social status. Chronicling the debut of nineteenth-century comfort stations, twentieth-century mandates requiring equal but separate men's and women's rooms, and twenty-first-century uproar over laws like North Carolina's bathroom bill, Davis reveals how public restrooms are far from marginal or unimportant social spaces. Instead, they are and always have been consequential sites in which ideology, institutions, and inequality collide.

Revitalizing Criminological Theory Steve Hall, Simon Winlow, 2025-05-30 The second edition of Revitalizing Criminological Theory is a substantial revision and expansion of the first edition. Ultra-realism is a unique school of criminological thought currently establishing itself in the discipline despite resistance from traditional schools. The second edition still provides the undergraduate and postgraduate student reader with an invaluable guide to existing schools of thought and their roots in politics and philosophy, but with updated commentary on their intellectual flaws. In the first edition, Hall and Winlow introduced a number of important new concepts that laid the foundations for an alternative theoretical framework and research programme in criminology. In three additional chapters written specially for this edition, they introduce further concepts and substantive revisions to the theoretical framework. They also outline and discuss in detail the growing body of award-winning criminological projects conducted by a new generation of researchers who have adopted and mobilised ultra-realist thinking over the past ten years. During this period of time, ultra-realism has also made significant progress towards its primary objectives of understanding human motivations, constructing insightful representations of reality, and answering the fundamental criminological question of why some human beings risk inflicting harm on others to further their own interests or achieve various ends The philosophical and psychosocial approaches outlined in the first edition are now significantly advanced and able to offer a more detailed answer to this question and a convincing alternative to the traditional paradigms of conservatism neoclassicism and left liberalism Ultra realism is now in a position to make some substantive contributions to the debate on the depth of political intervention required to get serious about reducing the impact of crime and harm on the lives of ordinary people This book is essential reading for academics and students engaged in the study of criminology sociology social psychology the philosophy of social science and the history of crime
