Personal Souths Douglas B. Chambers, 2012-04-25 Personal Souths a collection of twenty interviews with famous southern writers will mark the fiftieth anniversary of The Southern Quarterly one of the oldest scholarly journals founded in 1962 dedicated to southern studies The figures interviewed range from Erskine Caldwell Eudora Welty and Tennessee Williams all from the 1970s to a virtual Who's Who of southern literature in the second half of the twentieth century All of these interviews were originally published in the journal in the 1980s 1990s and 2000s and are collected here for the first time The South is represented broadly with writers from eight states at least four represent the mountain South Donald Harrington Bobbie Ann Mason Robert Morgan Lee Smith while another four typify a cosmopolitan South Reynolds Price Mary Lee Settle Elizabeth Spencer Tennessee Williams The greatest number of voices at least eight of the authors speak for or from the poor white South Larry Brown Erskine Caldwell Harry Crews Donald Harrington Bobbie Ann Mason Robert Morgan Del Shores Lee Smith Though there is only one African American writer Ernest J Gaines another interview William Styron Pulitzer Prize winning author of The Confessions of Nat Turner also focuses on a conversation about African American literature The interviews are all fascinating Not only do they reveal the personalities of these southern literary stars but they also represent a self-conscious community of writers It is a testament to the quality of The Southern Quarterly that many of these writers when discussing their most important contemporaries often refer to other writers whose interviews are also in this collection These firsthand discussions will continue to illuminate and inform our understanding of their creative work

A Treatise of the Law Relative to Merchant-ships and Seamen Charles ABBOTT (Baron Tenterden.), 1844 Free Will and Reactive Attitudes Paul Russell, Michael McKenna, 2016-04-22 The philosophical debate about free will and responsibility has been of great importance throughout the history of philosophy In modern times this debate has received an enormous resurgence of interest and the contribution in 1962 by P F Strawson with the publication of his essay Freedom and Resentment has generated a wide range of discussion and criticism in the philosophical community and beyond The debate is of central importance to recent developments in the free will literature and has shaped the way contemporary philosophers now approach the problem This volume brings together a focused selection of the major contributions and reactions to the free will and responsibility debate inspired by Strawson's contribution McKenna and Russell also provide a comprehensive overview of the debate This book will be of great value to scholars of Strawson and those interested in the free will debate more generally The Annual Register, Or, A View of the History and Politics of the Year ..., 1842 Once, Only

Once, and in the Right Place National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, Panel on Residence Rules in the Decennial Census, 2006-11-16 The usefulness of the U S decennial census depends critically on the accuracy with which individual people are counted in specific housing units at precise geographic locations The 2000 and other recent censuses have relied on a set of residence rules to craft instructions on the census questionnaire in order to guide respondents to identify their correct usual residence Determining the proper place to count such groups as college students prisoners and military personnel has always been complicated and controversial major societal trends such as placement of children in shared custody arrangements and the prevalence of snowbird and sunbird populations who regularly move to favorable climates further make it difficult to specify ties to one household and one place Once Only Once and in the Right Place reviews the evolution of current residence rules and the way residence concepts are presented to respondents It proposes major changes to the basic approach of collecting residence information and suggests a program of research to improve the 2010 and future censuses Changing National
