Strange Empire A Narrative Of The Northw:

The Riel Problem Albert Braz, 2024-06-06 Tracing Louis Riel's metamorphosis from traitor to hero Braz argues that through his writing Riel resists his portrayal as both a Canadian patriot and a pan Indigenous leader After being hanged for high treason in 1885 the Métis politician poet and mystic has emerged as a quintessential Canadian champion The Riel Problem maps this representational shift by examining a series of cultural and scholarly commemorations of Riel since 1967 from a large scale opera about his life through the publication of his extant writings to statues erected in his honour Braz also probes how aspects of Riel's life and writing can be problematic for many contemporary Métis artists scholars and civic leaders Analyzing representations of Riel in light of his own writings the author exposes both the constructedness of the Canadian nation state and the magnitude of the current historical revisionism when dealing with Riel 1885 and After F. Word Penelope Van Toorn, 1995 In an entertaining re-examination of Rudy Wiebe's major novels Penny van Toorn presents a completely new way of reading one of Canada's foremost contemporary writers. She analyzes Wiebe's struggle to control the socially contested territory of language and identifies the principles that underlie his complex narrative structures. North Dakota: A History Robert P. Wilkins, Wynona H. Wilkins, 1977-11-17 The area's extreme remoteness, great size and sparse population have shaped the North Dakota character from the beginning of settlement a century ago. There was not an easy land to master and of those who tried it demanded strength, endurance and few illusions, but it had rewards. Today as world shortages of food and fuel raise new possibilities and new problems North Dakotans face the future with the cautious optimism they learned long ago in sod houses and cold winters on the far northern edge of their country. Crowfoot Hugh

Dempsey, 1988 CROWFOOT: A BLOOD INDIAN SERVES AS A BLACKFOOT CHIEF 1875-1885 IN CANADA Core Of My Heart, My Country Maggie MacKellar, 2016-05-18 When Georgiana Molloy gave birth on the beach at Augusta in 1830 with boxes of her possessions lying where they'd landed she was one of the many women who literally had to remake their homes out of the broken bones of their past. In this passionate book Maggie MacKellar tells the stories of women on the frontier in Canada and Australia who ventured out in bonnets and petticoats to collect seeds, who abandoned sidesaddles to ride in the mountains who risked their reputations to climb mountains and beyond this it tells of the risky business of women who put their lives on the page to claim the importance of their experience. Core of My Heart, My Country weaves together experience and insight from women who lived and wrote in different landscapes in different climates and in different eras. It is a provocative and remarkable encounter with buried stories and persistent myths. Archaeology on the Edge Jane Holden

Kelley, Brian Patrick Kooyman, 2004 Dedicated to the memory of Richard G. Forbis this collection of papers presented by his students and colleagues represents more than a tribute to a pioneer and legend in Alberta archaeology. The papers chosen for this collection focus on new directions in northern plains archaeological research and are a unique and topical contribution to modern archaeology. Montana: A Cultural Medley Robert R. Swartout, Jr., 2015-06-15 The whole is greater than the sum of the parts when Montana historian Robert Swartout gathers the fascinating stories of the state's surprisingly diverse ethnic groups into this thought-provoking collection of essays. Fourteen chapters showcase an African American nightclub in Great Falls, a Japanese American war hero, the founding of a Métis community, Jewish merchants and Dutch settlement in the Gallatin Valley as well as stories of Irish Scots, Chinese, Finns, Mexican Americans, European war brides and more.

John Lubetkin, 2015-02-25 Hoping to complete its transcontinental route the Northern Pacific Railroad set out in 1872 to survey the Yellowstone Valley An emissary from the Lakota chief Sitting Bull had warned the two surveying expeditions eastern and western not to enter the valley But no one certainly no Northern Pacific investor was worried about taking the Indian threat seriously As it turned out the Indians were deadly serious and successful The firsthand accounts compiled here by M John Lubetkin document the survey s three month struggle with the Lakotas and other Plains Indian people Before Custer Surveying the Yellowstone 1872 tells the story of a military and public relations disaster Much to the surprised dismay of U S Army strategists and railroad executives the Indians repeatedly harassed army forces of nearly a thousand men One surveying party turned back without meeting its objectives after a determined attack led by Sitting Bull The other also retreated and one ambush it encountered resulted in the death of a member of President Ulysses S Grant s family and the narrow escape of the railroad s lead engineer The previously unpublished documents that Lubetkin has collected and annotated also tell a parallel story that of the dire consequences of the railroad s problems for the country When the Northern Pacific s expansion plans were thwarted the nation s largest private banking house failed leading to the Panic of 1873 The fighting brought Sitting Bull to national attention and led directly to George Armstrong Custer s transfer to the Department of Dakota The vivid eyewitness accounts

artfully assembled here reveal the failures of alcoholic army commanders and show personal encounters between soldiers and Indians among them the formidable Lakota warrior known as Gall Before Custer tells of a little known but crucial episode in the history of westward expansion and Native peoples efforts to halt that expansion
