Taxonomy And Biogeography Of Macquarie Island Seaweeds:

Taxonomy and Biogeography of Macquarie Island Seaweeds R. W. Ricker, 1997 Taxonomy and Biogeography of Macquarie Island Seaweeds Robert Wallace Ricker, 1987 Evolutionary Biogeography of the Marine Algae of the North Atlantic David J. Garbary, G. Robin South, 2013-06-29 Algal systematists, geologists and evolutionary biologists provide a synthesis of the evolutionary biogeography of red, brown and green algae of the North Atlantic Ocean, also considering their relationships with species and genera in the Arctic and Pacific Oceans as well as other subtropical and tropical seas. The history of the Atlantic Basin and its connections to other ocean basins is treated from the geological, paleontological and paleoclimatic perspective. This is contrasted with biogeographic analyses of marine animal systems and the role of plant-animal interactions in evolution. Some of the approaches include traditional systematic studies, cladistic analysis, the experimental evaluation of environment in establishing distribution limits and the application of molecular biology.

Fifteenth International Seaweed Symposium Sandra C. Lindstrom, David J. Chapman, 2012-12-06 This volume provides a selection of the most significant papers presented at the 15th International Seaweed Symposium in Valdivia, Chile, in January 1995. Plenary lectures featured seaweed research and utilization in Chile by Bernabé Santelices, ethnobotany of seaweeds by Isabella Abbott, host-virus interactions in marine brown algae by Dieter Müller, DNA analysis methods for recognizing species invasion by Annette Coleman and recent developments in manufacturing and marketing carrageenan by Harris Bixler. Other highlights include sections on integrated aquaculture using seaweeds and marine invertebrates or fishes and on diseases in seaweeds. The remaining papers cover recent advances in floristics and systematics, population studies, pollution, cultivation, economics, physiology, biochemistry, cell biology and chemistry, and chemical composition of seaweeds, particularly species of Gracilariiales, Gigartinales, Gelidiales, Laminariales and Fucales. Seaweeds Klaus Lüning, 1991-01-16 A thoroughly revised and updated edition of the German work. Part I presents the geographic distribution of seaweeds and seagrasses around the world, environmental factors, floral history and relevant paleoceanographic considerations covered geographically. Part II covers seaweed ecophysiology, including the relationships of light, temperature, salinity and other abiotic factors on seaweed distribution, as well as biotic factors such as competition, herbivory, predation and parasitism, in order to elucidate the ecophysiological bases for the distribution patterns examined in Part I. Antarctic Seaweeds Iván Gómez, Pirjo Huovinen, 2020-04-29 Seaweeds (macroalgae) represent the most striking living components in the Antarctic's near-shore ecosystems, especially across the West Antarctic Peninsula and adjacent islands. Due to their abundance, their central roles as primary producers and foundation organisms and as sources of diverse metabolically active products, seaweed assemblages are fundamental to biogeochemical cycles in Antarctic coastal systems. In recent years, the imminence of climate change and the direct impacts of human beings, which are affecting vast regions of the Antarctic, have highlighted the importance of seaweed processes in connection with biodiversity, adaptation and interactions in the benthic network Various research groups have been actively involved in the investigation of these topics Many of these research efforts have a long tradition while some newcomers have also recently contributed important new approaches to the study of these organisms benefiting polar science as a whole This book provides an overview of recent advances and insights gleaned over the past several years Focusing on a timely topic and extremely valuable resource it assesses the challenges and outlines future directions in the study of Antarctic seaweeds

Ross Sea Ecology F.M. Faranda,L. Guglielmo,Adrianna Ianora,2012-12-06 The Antarctic represents the last of the world s still unexplored continents Since 1985 Italy has sent 10 expeditions to this region three of those have been exclusively devoted to research on the marine ecology of the Ross Sea region This volume presents a global picture of this research It includes contributions on water mass characteristics particulate organic matter and nutrient utilization and physiological aspects of primary production Further topics are zooplankton krill and top predator interactions in relation to physical and biological parameters ecological features of coastal fish communities and the spatio temporal variability of benthic biocenoses

Oomycete Genetics and Genomics Kurt Lamour,Sophien Kamoun,2009-06-17 This book brings together the knowledge from and tools for genetic and genomic research into oomycetes to help solve the problems this pathogen poses to crops and animals Armed with the information presented here researchers can use oomycete data to solve practical problems and gain insight into future areas of interest Key Features Offers an up to date coverage of research into oomycetes which has advanced with biochemical and molecular analyses in recent years Helps researchers use oomycete data to solve practical problems like damage to crop and animal resources Includes a section on interactions with animal hosts Offers perspective on future areas of research Assembles an international author base

The Invertebrates of Macquarie Island Penelope Greenslade,Rieks Van Klinken,2006 Describes the taxonomy biology and ecology of over 300 invertebrate taxa from Macquarie Island and is also an identification guide

Biology of Polar Benthic Algae Christian Wiencke,2010-12-20 This work synthesizes the current state of knowledge on the biology of polar benthic marine algae and presents an outlook on their responses to changing environmental conditions in polar regions Topics treated include environment biodiversity and biogeography of micro and macroalgae including an update of the knowledge of the red algal flora of Antarctica It treats the chemical ecology as well as the primary production and ecophysiology of polar benthic algae with new information on the important contribution of benthic microalgae to the productivity in costal areas
