The Clock of Nature Hugh Macmillan, 1896 The Clock of Nature Hugh Macmillan, 1898 The Clock of Nature Hugh MacMillan, 2014-03 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1907 Edition Mastered by the Clock Mark M. Smith, 2000-11-09 Mastered by the Clock is the first work to explore the evolution of clock based time consciousness in the American South Challenging traditional assumptions about the plantation economy's reliance on a premodern nature based conception of time Mark M Smith shows how and why southerners particularly masters and their slaves came to view the clock as a legitimate arbiter of time Drawing on an extraordinary range of eighteenth and nineteenth century archival sources Smith demonstrates that white southern slaveholders began to incorporate this new sense of time in the 1830s Influenced by colonial merchants fascination with time thrift by a long held familiarity with urban public time by the transport and market revolution in the South and by their own qualified embrace of modernity slaveowners began to purchase timepieces in growing numbers adopting a clock based conception of time and attempting in turn to instill a similar consciousness in their slaves But forbidden to own watches themselves slaves did not internalize this idea to the same degree as their masters and slaveholders found themselves dependent as much on the whip as on the clock when enforcing slaves obedience to time Ironically Smith shows freedom largely consolidated the dependence of masters as well as freedpeople on the clock

The Nature of Time J. Woods Halley, 2022-12-02 This book reviews and contrasts contemporary and historical perceptions of time from scientific and intuitive human points of view Ancient and modern clocks Augustinian ideas the deterministic Newtonian universe biological clocks deep time thermodynamics quantum mechanics and relativity all contribute to the perspective The focus is on what can be inferred from established technologies and science as opposed to futuristic speculation Chapter 1 describes clocks including the cesium atomic clocks establishing the current global time standard a history of clock development biological clocks phylogenetic trees radioactive dating and astronomical methods to determine the age of the universe Chapter 2 poses ancient questions about time not fully addressed by an understanding of the technical nature of clocks An early summary of some of these questions as described by Augustine in the 3rd century CE is followed by a description of how Newton 1300 years later introduced a conception of time which provided some answers such as the nature of an infinitesimally short present Implications concerning the reality of events in the past present and future are also discussed The Newtonian picture is contrasted with the intuitive human one and the possibilities of time travel and temporal recurrence are briefly discussed Chapter 3 introduces the second law of thermodynamics and addresses how it is compatible with a time reversible Newtonian description of a universe even though it appears to define an arrow of time The nature of entropy and its relation to coarse graining and emergence play a central role in the discussion Chapter 4 discusses ways in which quantum mechanics has altered the Newtonian perspective accounting for various interpretations of the meaning of quantum mechanics with regard to time Chapter 5 describes basic elements of special relativity and their implications for the nature of time Examples of time dilation and the changing order of space such as separated events in different frames are described The examples are chosen to avoid evocation of currently unattainable technologies An afterword in chapter 6 reviews questions raised by Augustine and summarizes how the development of science since then has addressed them This book was originally developed for an interdisciplinary seminar for beginning undergraduates at the University of Minnesota It uses a small amount of algebra mainly in supplementary appendices and does not assume any prior knowledge of physics chemistry biology or astronomy In contrast to many semipopular books on time it avoids speculation either about engineering techno optimism or physical theory strings loop quantum gravity black hole entropy Instead it takes a more grounded approach and describes what is currently known and not known to help both students and the general reader make better sense of time Spectacle de la Nature: Or, Nature Display'd Noël Antoine Pluche,1753

Nature Maurice Merleau-Ponty,2003 Collected in this text are the written notes of courses on the concept of nature give by Merleau Ponty at the College de France in the 1950s The ideas that animated the philosopher s lectures emerge in an early fluid form in the process of being elaborated negotiated critiqued and reconsidered Nature Sir Norman Lockyer,1902 The Clock of Nature Hugh Macmillan (D.D.),1896 Ending the War Between Humanity and Nature Patrick C. Lee,2020-08-19 This book offers plausible explanations for people s puzzling unwillingness to address the human nature interactions that have led us to the precipice that is climate change today Humanity and nature are at war the evidence is all around us catastrophic weather events rising sea levels extinction of species famine wildfires melting polar ice millions of environmental refugees and toxic pollution of air water and soil The list goes on and on What is causing this war and how can it be stopped Is this war an unintended consequence of economic and environmental imperatives pulling in opposite directions This book takes the question and its answer to a deeper level It argues that the root cause of our war on nature might be found in the time honored historically deep myths narratives and stories we tell ourselves and have been telling ourselves for centuries about humanity s place in or out of the natural world
