The Language Of Senses Sensory Perceptual Dynamics In Wordsworth:

Language of the Senses Kerry McSweeney, 1998-07-08 McSweeney discusses the sensory acuity that informed Wordsworth's Coleridge's Thoreau's Whitman's and Dickinson's finest achievements and then when blunted by illness or age contributed to an attenuation of their creative power He supplies a sensory profile or sensory history for each author and through close readings shows how this profile affected their relationship to the external world and their powers of symbolic perception Using perspectives gleaned from the poets themselves and an understanding of the physiological ground of perception McSweeney establishes a compelling theoretical basis for his approach In clear and elegant prose he studies the physical basis for aesthetic plenitude such as the sensory manifold of synaesthesia not only in the Romantic writers mentioned above but also in two Victorian poets Hopkins and Tennyson

Language of the Senses Kerry McSweeney, 1998 In this stimulating and original analysis of some of the most important nineteenth century poems in English Kerry McSweeney offers an alternative to non referential and New Historicist critical methods

The Language of the Senses Sensory-Perceptual Dynamics in Wordsworth, Cleridge, Thoreau, Whitman, and Dickinson , 1998 The Smell of Slavery Andrew Kettler, 2020-05-28 In the Atlantic World different groups were aromatically classified in opposition to other ethnic gendered and class assemblies due to an economic necessity that needed certain bodies to be defined as excremental which culminated in the creation of a progressive tautology that linked Africa and waste through a conceptual hendiadys born of capitalist licentiousness The African subject was defined as a scented object appropriated as filthy to create levels of ownership through discourse that marked African peoples as unable to access spaces of Western modernity Embodied cultural knowledge was potent enough to alter the biological function of the five senses to create a European olfactory consciousness made to sense the African other as foul Fascinating informative and deeply researched The Smell of Slavery exposes that concerns with pungency within the Western self were emitted outward upon the freshly dug outhouse of the mass slave grave called the Atlantic World

Wordsworth and the Poetry of What We Are Paul H. Fry, 2008-10-01 Where others have oriented Wordsworth towards ideas of transcendence nature worship or more recently political repression Paul H Fry argues that underlying all this is a more fundamental insight Wordsworth is most astonished not that the world he experiences has any particular qualities but rather that it simply exists

What's the Import? Kerry McSweeney, 2007-05-09 Two conspicuous features of the radical transformation of literary studies over the past three decades have been the dominance of theory based interpretative discourse and cultural studies contextualizations Both have greatly energized literary studies but they have done so at a cost

Musical Wordsworth Yimon Lo, 2023-02-15 In his Essay of 1815 Wordsworth asserts that a pure and refined scheme of harmony must prevail in all higher poetry This idea of a structured and complex form of harmony was similarly noted earlier in The Prelude 1805 where Wordsworth famously claimed that the human mind is framed even like the breath And harmony of music Musical Wordsworth presents an original understanding of

Wordsworthian harmony by examining an organised but dynamic sense of musicality that shapes his poetic theory and practice This book is the first study to draw on music psychology and aesthetics to interpret the function and mechanism of Wordsworth's aural structure and movement Engaging with scholarship from the fields of literature and music it defines Wordsworth's poetry and the imagination through musical conceptions and establishes various modes and forms of poetic listening as experiences of musical performance and appreciation Each chapter explores a pair of musical abstractions Lyricism and Musicality Breath and Harmony Repetition and Resonance Expectation and Surprise Rhythm and Dynamics Rest and Silence Musical Wordsworth will be of interest to students and researchers of Romantic poetry long nineteenth century literature and music

Making Sense Ralf Hertel, 2021-07-26 Fiction is fascinating All it provides us with is black letters on white pages yet while we read we do not have the impression that we are merely perceiving abstract characters Instead we see the protagonists before our inner eye and hear their voices Descriptions of sumptuous meals make our mouths water we feel physically repelled by depictions of violence or are aroused by the erotic details of sexual conquests We submerge ourselves in the fictional world that no longer stays on the paper but comes to life in our imagination Reading turns into an out of the body experience or rather an in another body experience for we perceive the portrayed world not only through the protagonist's eyes but also through his ears nose tongue and skin In other words we move through the literary text as if through a virtual reality How does literature achieve this trick How does it turn mere letters into vividly experienced worlds This study argues that techniques of sensuous writing contribute decisively to bringing the text to life in the reader's imagination In detailed interpretations of British novels of the 1980s and 1990s by writers such as John Berger John Banville Salman Rushdie Jeanette Winterson or J M Coetzee it uncovers literary strategies for turning the sensuous experience into words and for conveying it to the reader demonstrating how we make sense in and of literature Both readers interested in the contemporary novel and in the sensuousness of the reading experience will profit from this innovative study that not only analyses the interest of contemporary authors in the senses but also pin points literary entry points for the sensuous force of reading

A Cultural History of the Senses in the Age of Empire Constance Classen, 2014-10-23 The 19th century was a time of new sensory experiences and modes of perception The raucous mechanical intensity of the train and the factory vied for attention with the dazzling splendour of department stores and world fairs Colonization and trade carried European sensations and sensibilities to the world and in turn flooded the West with exotic sights and savours Urban stench became a matter of urgent public concern Photography created a compelling alternate reality accessible only to the eye At the turn of the 20th century the telephone and the radio isolated and extended the sense of hearing and electrical networks spread their webs throughout cities These novel experiences were reflected in contemporary art and literature which strove for new ways to express modern sensibilities A Cultural History of the Senses in the Age of Empire brings together a group of eminent historians to explore the aesthetic cultural and political formation of the senses during a period of momentous change A Cultural History of the Senses in the Age of Empire presents essays on the following topics the social life of the senses urban sensations the senses in the marketplace the senses in religion the senses in philosophy and science medicine and the senses the senses in literature art and the senses and sensory media Mystical Discourse in Wordsworth and Whitman D. J. Moores, 2006 In Mystical Discourse D J Moores builds on the work of current transatlantic scholarship in a lucid analysis of the connections between William Wordsworth and Walt Whitman As he demonstrates the transatlantic bridge between both poets lies in their privileging of a type of mystical language he calls cosmic rhetoric which served the function of ideological resistance as it enabled them to rebel against Enlightenment modes of thinking and being In a thorough engagement with the work of Wordsworth and Whitman Moores shows that the cosmic rhetoric of both writers involves a subversive reorientation towards self and society nature and God and knowledge and religion as well as a radical revisioning of language and poetics
