The Cognitive Processing Of Chinese And Related Asian Languages:

Cognitive Processing of Chinese and Related Asian Languages Hsuan-Chih Chen, 1997 The aim of this volume is to integrate the most recent research in the cognitive processing of Chinese and related Asian languages i.e. Japanese and Korean into a single academic reference Because so much more was learned about the topic over the past several years the proposed volume is intended to provide something like a state of art review and to capture what is currently going on in a new and rapidly expanding field

Cognitive Processing of the Chinese and the Japanese Languages C.K. Leong, Katsuo Tamaoka, 2013-03-09 The area of cognitive processing of Chinese and Japanese is currently attracting a great deal of attention by leading cognitive psychologists They aim to find out the similarities and differences in processing the morphosyllabic Chinese and Japanese syllabary as compared with alphabetic language systems Topics under the processing of Chinese include the use of phonological codes in visual identification of Chinese words the constraint on such phonological activation recognition of Chinese homophones Chinese sentence comprehension and children's errors in writing Chinese characters Topics under the processing of Japanese include the automatic recognition of kanji within an interactive activation framework On reading and Kun reading of kanji characters processing differences between hiragana and kanji the effect of polysemy on katakana script and the writing behavior of Japanese and non Japanese speakers The interactive activation model provides the phonologic orthographic links in processing both language systems The present volume should add greatly to our understanding of this topic Many of the contributors are internationally known for their experimental psychological work

Processing East Asian Languages Hsuan-Chih Chen, Xiaolin Zhou, 1999 This volume presents an exciting sample of the most recent research on the processing of Chinese Japanese and Korean

Studies in Second Language Acquisition of Chinese ZhaoHong Han, 2014-05-08 This book aims to further understanding of the acquisition of Chinese as a foreign or second language The six independent studies which focus on various aspects of the learning process from morphosyntax to pragmatics to peer interaction offer empirical insights into instructed learners under an array of instructional conditions

Language Disorders in Speakers of Chinese Sam-po Law, Brendan Weekes, Anita M-Y. Wong, 2009 Research interest in Chinese language impairments can be traced back to the 1930s Despite the significant advances made in this field over the past two decades this body of work has not received the attention it deserves This book fills a gap in the field and represents the latest research in Chinese language disorders in children and adults The work presented in this volume addresses theoretical and clinical issues relevant to specific language impairment in children developmental dyslexia phonological impairment in children and adults and acquired dyslexia and dysgraphia The book will appeal to interdisciplinary researchers from cognitive psychology linguistics and neurology with interests in the Chinese language speech language therapists working with Chinese speaking clients educationists in particular language teachers of children learning to read and write Chinese as well as neuroscientists It will serve as a good reference book for advanced level
