Sivanandan, Jean Arasanayagam, Carl Muller, James Goonewardene, and Punyakante Wijenaike, to rigorously challenge the theoretical, cultural, and political assumptions that pit insider against outsider, resident against migrant, and the authentic against the alien. By interrogating the discourses of territoriality and boundary marking that have come into prominence since the start of the civil war, Salgado works to define a more nuanced and sensitive critical framework that actively reclaims marginalized voices and draws upon recent studies in migration and the diaspora to reconfigure the Sri Lankan critical terrain. Sanctioned Ignorance Paul Martin, 2013-11-15 There is no such thing as the ivory tower. Rather, there sit side by side numerous windowless towers of knowledge, each seeming to have only a small entrance and no discernable exit. Paul Martin. Multilingual, multicultural, and vast, Canada enjoys a rich diversity of literatures. So why does Canadian literature, as it has been taught, fail to encompass a common geography, history, and government, yet reveal the diverse experiences of its immigrants, long-term residents, and original peoples? Martin's research interviews with 95 professors in 27 universities maps the institutional chasms in communication and the nature of their persistence. His own example of venturing out from his tower to dialogue with colleagues shows a way toward cultivating a conception of the literatures of Canada that is expansive and inclusive.

Canadianists professors of English French Postcolonial and Comparative Literatures and leaders in education will profit from Martin's frank investigations
