The Historical Renaissance Heather Dubrow, Richard Strier, 1988-10-19 The Historical Renaissance both exemplifies and examines the most influential current in contemporary studies of the English Renaissance the effort to analyze the interplay between literature history and politics The broad and varied manifestations of that effort are reflected in the scope of this collection Rather than merely providing a sampler of any single critical movement The Historical Renaissance represents the range of ways scholars and critics are fusing what many would once have distinguished as literary and historical concerns The volume includes studies of mid Tudor culture as well as of Elizabethan and Stuart periods The scope of the collection is also manifest in its list of contributors They include historians and literary critics and their work spans the spectrum from more traditional methods to those characteristic of what has been termed New Historicism One aim of the book is to investigate the apparent division between these older and more current approaches Heather Dubrow and Richard Strier evaluate the contemporary interest in historical studies of the Renaissance relating it to previous developments in the field surveying its achievements and limitations and suggesting new directions for future work
