The Cliff Walk A Memoir Of A Job Lost And A Life Found:

The Cliff Walk Don J. Snyder, 2014-09-23 Five years ago Don Snyder was teaching English at Colgate University He was forty years old and had a wife three children a new baby on the way and what seemed like a secure middle class future But then Snyder lost his chance at tenure and all of a sudden he was out of a job The Cliff Walk is a moving clear eyed account of Snyder s agonizing loss and what it feels like to fall rung by rung down the socio economic ladder Snyder chronicles the denial and disbelief he went through as his hopes of finding another teaching job faded after being rejected for ninety positions He explains how each painful change selling his house buying groceries with food stamps reminded him how much he and his family had taken for granted in their previous life And he describes how he finally found new hope in a job on a home construction crew in Maine Working outside for ten hours a day through a vicious winter taught Snyder about his own cowardice and the lies he had come to believe about what a professional life of hard work entitled him to Written with precision and elegance The Cliff Walk captures the depth of one family s love and speaks to anyone who has ever wondered what it would be like to be out of a job and out in the cold

Franklin, 2012-03 Since the early 1990s there has been a proliferation of memoirs by tenured humanities professors Although the memoir form has been discussed within the flourishing field of life writing academic memoirs have received little critical scrutiny Based on close readings of memoirs by such academics as Michael B rub Cathy N Davidson Jane Gallop bell hooks Edward Said Eve Sedgwick Jane Tompkins and Marianna Torgovnick Academic Lives considers why so many professors write memoirs and what cultural capital they carry Cynthia G Franklin finds that academic memoirs provide unparalleled ways to unmask the workings of the academy at a time when it is dealing with a range of crises including attacks on intellectual freedom discontentment with the academic star system and budget cuts Franklin considers how academic memoirs have engaged with a core of defining concerns in the humanities identity politics and the development of whiteness studies in the 1990s the impact of postcolonial studies feminism and concurrent anxieties about pedagogy and disability studies and the struggle to bring together discourses on the humanities and human rights The turn back toward humanism that Franklin finds in some academic memoirs is surreptitious or frankly nostalgic others however posit a wide ranging humanism that seeks to create space for advocacy in the academic and other institutions in which we are all unequally located These memoirs are harbingers for the critical turn to explore interrelations among humanism the humanities and human rights struggles
