The Coercive Utopians Rael Jean Isaac, Erich Isaac, 1983      Shadow World Robert Chandler, 2008-08-26 America is at war and the stakes are huge The fight isn't just in Iraq and Afghanistan it's a global contest between the United States radical Islam a resurgent Russia and a virulent New Left coming to power in Latin America and stalking the corridors of power around the world These three enemies of America are separate but still cooperate and in his stunning new book Shadow World Robert Chandler shows how      Liberation by Oppression Thomas Szasz, 2017-09-29 Originally called mad doctoring psychiatry began in the seventeenth century with the establishing of madhouses and the legal empowering of doctors to incarcerate persons denominated as insane Until the end of the nineteenth century every relationship between psychiatrist and patient was based on domination and coercion as between master and slave Psychiatry its emblem the state mental hospital was a part of the public sphere the sphere of coercion The advent of private psychotherapy at the end of the nineteenth century split psychiatry in two some patients continued to be the involuntary inmates of state hospitals others became the voluntary patients of privately practicing psychotherapists Psychotherapy was officially defined as a type of medical treatment but actually was a secular medical version of the cure of souls Relationships between therapist and patient Thomas Szasz argues was based on cooperation and contract as is relationships between employer and employee or between clergyman and parishioner Psychotherapy its emblem the therapist's office was a part of the private sphere the contract Through most of the twentieth century psychiatry was a house divided half slave and half free During the past few decades psychiatry became united again all relations between psychiatrists and patients regardless of the nature of the interaction between them are now based on actual or potential coercion This situation is the result of two major reforms that deprive therapist and patient alike of the freedom to contract with one another Therapists now have a double duty they must protect all mental patients involuntary and voluntary hospitalized or outpatient incompetent or competent from themselves They must also protect the public from all patients Persons designated as mental patients may be exempted from responsibility for the deleterious consequences of their own behavior if it is attributed to mental illness      Politics, Paradigms, and Intelligence Failures Ofira Seliktar, 2015-05-20 Washington's failure to foresee the collapse of its superpower rival ranks high in the pantheon of predictive failures The question of who got what right or wrong has been intertwined with the deeper issue of who won the Cold War Like the disputes over who lost China and Iran this debate has been fought out along ideological and partisan lines with conservatives claiming credit for the Evil Empire's demise and liberals arguing that the causes were internal to the Soviet Union The intelligence community has come in for harsh criticism for overestimating Soviet strength and overlooking the symptoms of crisis the discipline of Sovietology has dissolved into acrimonious irrelevance Drawing on declassified documents interviews and careful analysis of contemporaneous literature this book offers the first systematic analysis of this predictive failure at the paradigmatic foreign policy and intelligence levels Although it is focused on the Soviet case it offers lessons that are both timely and necessary Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1984

Why Conservatives Tell Stories and Liberals Don't David M Ricci,2015-12-03 Why do conservatives tell stories Because it helps them win elections and assail liberal policies like health care reform and economic stimulus Why is important but the what and the how behind the stories that conservatives tell are equally interesting and in this new book David Ricci reveals all He shows how conservative activists and candidates tell many tales that come together to project a large scale story a cultural narrative a vision of what America is and what it should do to prosper socially economically and politically Liberals by contrast tend to look for theories rather than stories for mathematical explanations rather than theological axioms for data rather than anecdotes and for statistics rather than homilies The difference is paradoxical Liberals are unlikely to fashion sweeping narratives that capture the public s attention and commitment Yet conservatives may tell attractive stories like the ones that got us into Iraq that momentarily capture voter support but end up costing the country more than it can afford

Capturing the Political Imagination Diane Stone,2013-01-11 Think tanks are proliferating Although they are outside of government many of these policy research institutes are perceived to influence political thinking and public policy This book develops ideas about policy networks epistemic communities and policy learning in relation to think tanks

Prosperity for All Matthew Hilton,2011-05-02 The history of consumerism is about much more than just shopping Ever since the eighteenth century citizen consumers have protested against the abuses of the market by boycotting products and promoting fair instead of free trade In recent decades consumer activism has responded to the challenges of affluence by helping to guide consumers through an increasingly complex and alien marketplace In doing so it has challenged the very meaning of consumer society and tackled some of the key economic social and political issues associated with the era of globalization In Prosperity for All the first international history of consumer activism Matthew Hilton shows that modern consumer advocacy reached the peak of its influence in the decades after World War II Growing out of the product testing activities of Consumer Reports and its international counterparts including Which in the United Kingdom Que Choisir in France and Test in Germany consumerism evolved into a truly global social movement Consumer unions NGOs and individual activists like Ralph Nader emerged in countries around the world including developing countries in Southeast Asia and Latin America concerned with creating a more equitable marketplace and articulating a politics of consumption that addressed the needs of both individuals and society as a whole Consumer activists achieved many victories from making cars safer to highlighting the dangers of using baby formula instead of breast milk in countries with no access to clean water The 1980s saw a reversal in the consumer movement s fortunes thanks in large part to the rise of an antiregulatory agenda both in the United States and internationally In the process the definition of consumerism changed focusing more on choice than on access As Hilton shows this change reflects more broadly on the dilemmas we all face as consumers Do we want more stuff and more prosperity for ourselves or do we want others less fortunate to be able to enjoy the same opportunities and standard of living that we do Prosperity for All makes clear that by abandoning a more idealistic vision for consumer society we reduce consumers to little more than shoppers and we deny the vast majority of the world's population the fruits of affluence

Passage to a Human World Max Singer, Argues that the dominant characteristic of the modern era is the world's passage from poverty to wealth Examines whether this economic growth is sustainable and looks at present concerns about degradation of the environment and the finite supplies of basic resources Quarterly Review of Military Literature, 1984

Fear Robert Peckham, 2023-09-07 Extraordinary Ai Weiwei Brilliant Simon Schama Fear has long been a driving force perhaps the driving force of world history a coercive tool of power and a catalyst for radical change Here Robert Peckham traces its transformative role over a millennium from fears of famine and war to anxieties over God disease technology and financial crises In a landmark global history that ranges from the Black Death to the terror of the French Revolution the AIDS pandemic to climate change Peckham reveals how fear made us who we are and how understanding it can equip us to face the future

Cold War Kitchen Ruth Oldenziel, Karin Zachmann, 2011-01-21 The kitchen as political symbol and material reality in the cold war years Richard Nixon and Nikita Khrushchev's famous kitchen debate in 1958 involved more than the virtues of American appliances Both Nixon and Khrushchev recognized the political symbolism of the modern kitchen the kind of technological innovation represented in this everyday context spoke to the political system that produced it The kitchen connects the big politics of politicians and statesmen to the small politics of users and interest groups Cold War Kitchen looks at the kitchen as material object and symbol considering the politics and the practices of one of the most famous technological icons of the twentieth century Defining the kitchen as a complex technological artifact as important as computers cars and nuclear missiles the book examines the ways in which a range of social actors in Europe shaped the kitchen as both ideological construct and material practice These actors from manufacturers and modernist architects to housing reformers and feminists constructed and domesticated the technological innovations of the postwar kitchen The home became a mediation junction in which women users and others felt free to advise producers from the consumer's point of view In essays illustrated by striking period photographs the contributors to Cold War Kitchen consider such topics as Soviet consumers ambivalent responses to the American dream kitchen argued over by Nixon and Khrushchev the Frankfurter Küche a European modernist kitchen of the interwar period and its export to Turkey when its designer fled the Nazis and the British state subsidized kitchen design so innovative that it was mistaken for a luxury American product The concluding essays challenge the received wisdom of past interpretations of the kitchen debate Review of Current Military Literature, 1984 Military Review, 1984

Grand Illusions George Grant, 1988

Atheism? Stephen E. Parrish, 2019-05-06 Does atheism have a monopoly on reason and science Many think so or simply assume so Atheism challenges the many hidden assumptions that have led to the popular belief that atheism is the default position for explaining reality Delving into the most basic and fundamental questions of existence this thought provoking book explains that atheism does not and cannot provide a secure foundation for thought and life Specifically it demonstrates that atheistic theories cannot explain the existence of an ordered universe the conundrums of consciousness and knowledge or why there is morality or beauty Rather than being the result of reason atheism is shown to be in effect a revolt against reason If you enjoy pondering the most basic issues that confront us in our world today then Atheism is the book for you     Nuclear Systems Neil E. Todreas,1992-09-01 This edition builds on earlier traditions in providing broad subject area coverage application of theory to practical aspects of commercial nuclear power and use of instructional objectives Like the first edition it focuses on what distinguishes nuclear engineering from the other engineering disciplines However this edition includes reorganization and overall update of descriptions of reactor designs and fuel cycle steps and more emphasis on reactor safety especially related to technical and management lessons learned from the TMI 2 and Chernobyl 4 accidents     Research at the Marketing/entrepreneurship Interface ,1987     Cruel Compassion Thomas Szasz,1998-02-01 Cruel Compassion is the capstone of Thomas Szasz s critique of psychiatric practices Reexamining psychiatric interventions from a cultural historical and political economic perspective Szasz demonstrates that the main problem that faces mental health policy makers today is adult dependency Millions of Americans diagnosed as mentally ill are drugged and confined by doctors for noncriminal conduct go legally unpunished for the crimes they commit and are supported by the state not because they are sick but because they are unproductive and unwanted Obsessed with the twin beliefs that misbehavior is a medical disorder and that the duty of the state is to protect adults from themselves we have replaced criminal punitive sentences with civil therapeutic programs The result is the relentless loss of individual liberty erosion of personal responsibility and destruction of the security of persons and property symptoms of the transformation of a Constitutional Republic into a Therapeutic State unconstrained by the rule of law Szasz shows convincingly that not until we separate therapy from coercion much as the founders separated theology from coercion shall we be able to get a handle on our seemingly intractable psychiatric and social problems No contemporary thinker has done more than Thomas Szasz to expose the myths and misconceptions surrounding insanity and the practice of psychiatry Now in Cruel Compassion he gives us a sobering look at some of our most cherished notions about our humane treatment of society s unwanted and perhaps more importantly about ourselves as a compassionate and democratic people     The Moral Case for Fossil Fuels Alex Epstein,2014-11-13 Could everything we know about fossil fuels be wrong For decades environmentalists have told us that using fossil fuels is a self destructive addiction that will destroy our planet Yet at the same time by every measure of human well being from life expectancy to clean water to climate safety life has been getting better and better How can this be The explanation energy expert Alex Epstein argues in The Moral Case for Fossil Fuels is that we usually hear only one side of the story We re taught to think only of the negatives of fossil fuels their risks and side effects but not their positives their unique ability to provide cheap reliable energy for a world of seven billion people And the moral significance of cheap reliable energy Epstein argues is woefully underrated Energy is our ability to improve every single aspect of life whether economic or environmental If we look at the big picture of fossil fuels compared with the alternatives the overall impact of using fossil fuels is to make the world a far better place We are morally obligated to use more fossil fuels for the sake of our economy and our environment Drawing on original insights and cutting edge research Epstein argues that most of what we hear about fossil fuels is a myth For instance Myth Fossil fuels are dirty Truth The environmental benefits of using fossil fuels far outweigh the risks Fossil fuels don't take a naturally clean environment and make it dirty they take a naturally dirty environment and make it clean They don't take a naturally safe climate and make it dangerous they take a naturally dangerous climate and make it ever safer Myth Fossil fuels are unsustainable so we should strive to use renewable solar and wind Truth The sun and wind are intermittent unreliable fuels that always need backup from a reliable source of energy usually fossil fuels There are huge amounts of fossil fuels left and we have plenty of time to find something cheaper Myth Fossil fuels are hurting the developing world Truth Fossil fuels are the key to improving the quality of life for billions of people in the developing world If we withhold them access to clean water plummets critical medical machines like incubators become impossible to operate and life expectancy drops significantly Calls to get off fossil fuels are calls to degrade the lives of innocent people who merely want the same opportunities we enjoy in the West Taking everything into account including the facts about climate change Epstein argues that fossil fuels are easy to misunderstand and demonize but they are absolutely good to use And they absolutely need to be championed Mankind's use of fossil fuels is supremely virtuous because human life is the standard of value and because using fossil fuels transforms our environment to make it wonderful for human life
