The Coming Day And Other Stories:

The Longest Day and Other Stories S. Govind Raj, 2013-01-27 Siraj ud Daula the Nawab of Bengal was neither coward nor afraid of wars He routed the British army from Calcutta within four days After that could he defend the State of Bengal in spite of his so many enemies because of his cruelty and profligacy What caused his downfall Was it profligacy or cruelty who and how they conspired against him to take their revenge was a quite intrigue It is an interesting historical story which one must read along with other interesting and inspiring stories "The First Day" and Other Stories Dvora Baron, 2001-03-31 Dvora Baron 1887 1956 the first modern Hebrew woman writer was born in a small Lithuanian town in 1887 Her father a rabbi gave his daughter a thorough education an extraordinary act at the time Baron immigrated to Palestine in 1910 married a prominent Zionist activist but defied the implicit ideological demands of the Zionist literary scene by continuing to write of the shtetl life she had left behind The eighteen stories in this superb collection offer an intimate re creation of Jewish Eastern Europe from a perspective seldom represented in Hebrew and Yiddish literature of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Baron brings vividly to life the shtetl experiences of women and other disenfranchised members of the Jewish community Her stories relate the feelings of a newborn girl a Jewish dog an impoverished bookkeeper a young widow who must hire herself out as a wet nurse and others who face emotional and physical hardships Baron s fluid writing style pushes the flexibility of Hebrew and Yiddish syntax to its limits while her profound knowledge of both biblical and rabbinical literature lends rich subtleties to her stories A companion to Conversations with Dvora An Experimental Biography of the First Modern Hebrew Woman Writer by Amia Lieblich California 1997 this collection is drawn from Baron s earlier as well as later works The Cop and the Anthem and Other Stories O. Henry, 2020-10-01 O Henry was a master of the short story and one of the most popular American writers of the twentieth century This selection of tales from across his writing career ranges from New York apartments to the cattle lands of Texas taking in con men clerks hustlers shop assistants tramps and tricksters They all highlight his ironic comic eye his gift for evoking speech and setting and his unique approach to life s quirks of fate The Penguin English Library collectable general readers editions of the best fiction in English from the eighteenth century to the end of the Second World War The Lupus Kid and Other Stories Robert Wendell, 2002-05-14 The Lupus Kid and Other Stories For a year Bob Wendell recorded the path his life took through illness and despair He was alive and grateful for that much But the turn his relationship would take and the downfall of those around him made Wendell question the very meaning of his existence Set under the gray skies of the Pacific Northwest The Lupus Kid and Other Stories gives more than insight into life with chronic illness it provides a glimpse into the human condition and the struggle to maintain dignity and hope And that while hope doesn t come easily it is sometimes found in the most unlikely places But tomorrow comes and even as agonizingly slowly as the days pass they nonetheless do And whether you re having the time of your life or the hell of your life they pass in a collective whole and are gone irretrievably so From The Lupus Kid and Other

Kiss and Other Stories Anton Chekhov, 2018-01-01 While at a party organized by the lieutenant of his regiment the shy and awkward Ryabovitch is suddenly kissed by an unknown woman in a dark room. This unexpected and electrifying encounter marks a turning point in his life and a shift in his personality arousing his passions and setting him on a desperate quest to discover the identity of the mysterious lady. One of Chekhov's most admired stories. The Kiss is joined in this volume by five equally celebrated tales in a brand new translation by Hugh Aplin: The Lady with the Little Dog, Ward Number Six, The Black Monk, The House with the Mezzanine, and The Peasants, making this an indispensable collection for those wanting to discover Chekhov at his creative best.

Girlfriends, Ghosts, and Other Stories Robert Walser, 2016-09-13 Girlfriends, Ghosts, and Other Stories brings together eighty-one brief texts spanning Robert Walser's career from pieces conceived amid his early triumphs to later works written at a psychiatric clinic in Bern. Many were published in the feuilleton sections of newspapers during Walser's life; others were jotted down on slips of paper and all but forgotten. They are strung together like consciousness idiosyncratic and vulnerable, genuine in their irony, wistful in their humor. Some dwell on childish or transient topics: carousels, the latest hairstyles, an ekphrasis of the illustrations in a picture book. Others on the grand themes of nature, art, and love. But they remain conversational, almost lighter than air. Every emotion ventured takes on the weight of a sincerity that is imperiled as soon as it comes into contact with the outside world which retains all of the novelty it had in childhood and all of the danger.

Subtle Man Loses His Day Job and Other Stories Thomas Allbaugh, 2020-09-29 These are stories that move to unexpected conclusions. A man returns from a failed trip to California convinced that he must act on the knowledge that subtlety is his superpower. An English teacher discovers he now lacks language to communicate with his wife and family. A high school senior seeks escape from his parents' separation by joining a rock band and he is not prepared for the unintended consequences that result. A young woman with only so much time left in the getaway car to persuade her boyfriend that she belongs in his origin story discovers the deeper story hidden in his origins. These are stories, some set in the Side Step Tavern or somewhere nearby that offer destinations we might expect if we were to listen more closely to our neighbors and perhaps to our own hearts.
