Commander of the Faithful John Waterbury,1970 The Commander of the Faithful: the Moroccan Political Elite

John Waterbury,1970 Studies of post colonial government have had great difficulty in establishing either an intellectual standpoint from which to depict or a moral one from which to judge Waterbury s view of Morocco s political elite depicts a part of the politics of the early 20th century The authors tells about the political elites and their various backgrounds There is also a history of the political system as well as the creation of political parties in Morocco Political Elite of Iran Marvin

Zonis,2015-03-08 In interviews with 170 politically active Iranians the author reveals that politics in Iran are based on interpersonal relationships marked by insecurity cynicism and mistrust He then assesses the significance of these characteristics for Iran s future development Originally published in 1971 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Rethinking

Arab Democratization Larbi Sadiki,2009-02-12 How do Arab countries democratise This is the key question this book seeks to answer To this end the book assesses Arab democratic experiments and analyzes the opportunities and perils highlighting the peculiarities of democratic transitions in the Arab Middle East Routledge Handbook on Elections in the Middle East and North Africa Francesco Cavatorta,Valeria Resta,2023-03-31 This Handbook analyzes elections in the Middle East and North Africa and seeks to overcome normative assumptions about the linkage between democracy and elections

Structured around five main themes contributors provide chapters detailing how their case studies illustrate specific themes within individual country settings Authors disentangle the various aspects informing elections as a process in the Middle East by taking into account the different contexts where the electoral contest occurs and placing these into a broader comparative context The findings from this Handbook connect with global electoral developments empirically demonstrating that there is very little that is exceptional about the Middle East and North Africa when it comes to electoral contests Routledge

Handbook on Elections in the Middle East and North Africa is the first book to examine all aspects related to elections in the Middle East and North Africa Through such comprehensive coverage and systematic analysis it will be a key resource for students and scholars interested in politics elections and democracy in the Middle East and North Africa Morocco James

Sater,2016-06-09 The first edition of Morocco was published one year before the mass protests of the Arab Spring rocked the Moroccan state Post Arab Spring the country has a new constitution and government but the state remains uncompromising on any true reform of the monarchy s claims to power This new edition provides an introductory overview of the history contemporary politics economy and international relations in Morocco and offers an examination of the challenges to tradition and modernity in the post colonial state It has been revised and updated to include analysis of the country s evolving politics in the years following the Arab Spring and the consequences this has had for the country s traditional monarchy It pays particular attention to the new constitution the policies of the new Islamist led government and it includes an analysis of Morocco s foreign policy in the post Arab Spring regional context Drawing on key academic texts the author provides a detailed analysis of Morocco focusing on issues such as Morocco s role within the region Trade policies with Europe Migration Morocco s Western Sahara policy Ways of dealing with Political Islam The extent to which European influence has affected Moroccan society Easily accessible to non specialists practitioners and upper level undergraduate students the book will be essential reading for those working in the fields of North African studies International Relations and Middle East studies North Africa's Arab Spring George Joffé,2013-10-18 This book addresses issues surrounding the evolution of the Arab Spring in North Africa After a general introduction and explanation of the events on a region wide basis it turns to examine aspects of each of the countries concerned The role of the Muslim Brotherhood during the Nasser regime and in the contemporary situation is compared together with an analysis of the emergence of new political parties in Egypt The book analyses the links between social media and satellite television during the revolution in Egypt This is followed by a study of the intellectual and cultural background to the Tunisian revolution and an analysis of the new political parties in Tunisia It also looks at the revolution process in Libya and concludes with a study of why there was no revolution in Algeria and how the Moroccan monarchy was able to sideline those who challenged it at the price of constitutional changes that are essentially cosmetic This book was originally published as a special issue of The Journal of North African Studies Climate Change and Migration Gregory White,2011-10-12 Recently though another force has generated a new wave of refugees global warming Weaving Political Time in Morocco Béatrice Hibou,Mohamed Tozy,Katharine Throssell,2025-05 Analyses of state power in Morocco have always been mired in exoticism or exceptionalism The Kingdom is said to be a prototype of political immobility a country caught in the authoritarian and conservative grip of its monarch known as the Commander of the Faithful a state in need of democratization but also a bastion of moderate Islam Drawing on thirty years of fieldwork interviews and extensive primary documentation B atrice Hibou and Mohamed Tozy reveal how demographic political and cultural changes have transformed Morocco s government and modes of domination from its pre colonial past to the present Interrogating the ideas of Empire and Nation state as particular forms of rule they examine the legacy of the centuries long Sharifian Empire in relation to the contemporary neoliberal government They show how imperial traditions and the modern state co exist today in an intricate tapestry of seemingly contradictory power relations different understandings of legitimacy and competing visions of authority sovereignty and responsibility Drawing on the work of Max Weber and Michel Foucault Weaving Political Time in Morocco is a comprehensive comparative examination of the evolution and continuities of state power in this complex North African country Political Philosophy Jean Hampton,2018-02-12 In this sophisticated yet accessible text Hampton neatly synthesizes the classical tradition the giants of the modern period the dominant topics of the 20th century as well as the new questions and concerns that are just beginning to rewrite contemporary political philosophy Political philosophy perhaps even more than other branches of philosophy calls for constant renewal to reflect not just re readings of the tradition but also the demands of current events In this lively and readable survey Jean Hampton has created a text for our time that does justice both to the great traditions of the field and to the newest developments In a marvelous feat of synthesis she links the classical tradition the giants of the modern period the dominant topics of the twentieth century and the new questions and concerns that are just beginning to rewrite contemporary political philosophy Hampton presents these traditions in an engaging and accessible manner adding to them her own views and encouraging readers to critically examine a range of ideas and to reach their own conclusions Of particular interest are the discussions of the contemporary liberalism communitarianism debates the revival of interest in issues of citizenship and nationality and the way in which feminist concerns are integrated into all these discussions Political Philosophy is the most modern text on the topic now available the ideal guide to what is going on in the field It will be welcomed by scholars and students in philosophy and political science and it will serve as an introduction for readers from outside these fields

The Oxford Handbook of Political Executives Rudy B. Andeweg, Robert Elgie, Ludger Helms, Juliet Kaarbo, Ferdinand Müller-Rommel, 2020 This Handbook provides definitive reference work on political executives and their key role in political systems It records the current theoretical and methodological debates and sets the agenda for future research in this prominent and extremely wide ranging field of research

Sufism in Morocco's Religious Politics John C. Thibdeau, 2023-07-25 This book outlines the role of Sufism in Moroccan politics in the twenty first century through a comparative study of contemporary Sufi organizations The author begins his analysis by highlighting the strategies employed by the Moroccan state over the past twenty years aimed at regulating and producing an authorized Moroccan Islam in the kingdom Despite these policies of spiritual security and spiritual diplomacy including the state sponsorship of Sufi organizations the author argues that this has not decreased diversity nor produced a banal interpretation of Islam but rather given rise to diverse articulations and performances of this religiosity Through a comparative analysis of three Sufi organizations based on eighteen months of fieldwork two of which have never before been studied the author brings into relief the spaces of creative enactment of Sufism as an ethical tradition Ultimately it is argued that each Sufi organization reflects a different refraction of i s n a concept emphasising the cultivation of public piety which underpins the Moroccan state s formulation of Islam Focused on both theoretical contributions to Islamic studies and topical treatments of geopolitical issues like spiritual diplomacy the Western Sahara and Morocco Algeria the book spans multiple disciplines including anthropology religious studies sociology and political science

Reviving the Islamic Caliphate in Early Modern Morocco Stephen Cory, 2016-04-08 Historians have long grappled with the question of how Islamic civilization so clearly dominant during the medieval period could fall completely under Western hegemony in the modern age. Many Western writers answer this question by referencing European ingenuity, initiative and transformative energy in contrast with Islamic parochialism, passivity and resistance to change. This book challenges such assumptions by studying the career of an aggressive sultan in early modern Morocco, Mulay Ahmad al Mansur (r. 1578-1603) who dared to take on the international super powers of his day and sought to redraw the map of Islamic Africa. Al Mansur is best known for launching a bold invasion across the Sahara desert to conquer the West African Songhay Empire. Most historians ascribe strictly economic motives for this assault, stating that the sultan wished to capture the prosperous gold trade that had traveled for centuries from West Africa to the Mediterranean. Dr Cory argues instead that Mulay Ahmad was pursuing more expansive goals than simply stuffing his coffers with West African gold, as evidenced by audacious claims made on his behalf in numerous panegyric texts produced by the sultan's court. Through a detailed analysis of official histories, documents and correspondence, writings by European observers and architectural evidence, he contends that the sultan sought to establish a Western caliphate that would eclipse the Ottoman Empire. Mulay Ahmad advanced this agenda through panegyric literature, elaborate court ceremonies, grand constructions, stunning military conquests and astute diplomacy with European powers, Ottoman officials and sub-Saharan rulers. Such assertions of universal caliphal authority had not been seriously promoted in Islam for over three hundred years before al Mansur's reign. Thus al Mansur sought to move his country forward into the modern age by returning to an institution that had governed Muslim lands during the fabled golden age of the Abbasid and Andalusian Umayyad caliphates. Through an investigation of the sultan's ambitions and achievements, Dr Cory provides new insight into the history of relations between Muslim states and the West.

The Politics of Development in Morocco Sylvia I. Bergh, 2017-01-30. Since the mid 1990s Morocco has sought to present itself as a model of genuine and gradual reform with decentralisation as a key tenet of this. Here Sylvia Bergh investigates the dynamics of popular participation and local governance, testing the extent to which the current structure builds local capacity or whether it is in fact a tool for soft state control. She narrates the realities of local administration and civil society to shed critical light on questions of democratic transition in North Africa. Her assessment of decentralisation and participatory development projects in rural Morocco and the legal and policy frameworks in which they operate leads to the conclusion that they have generally not yet led to an expansion of a civil society able to build local capacity or enhance bottom up empowerment. Grounded in an approach of the anthropology of policy, this book makes an important contribution to literature on the democratisation, development and governance in North Africa.

Cultural Anthropology of the Middle East, 1992. During the last two decades the number of anthropological studies on the Middle East has increased exponentially.
