Spector,2020-11-03 The best book by far on the Pacific War The New York Times Book Review this classic one volume history of World War II in the Pacific draws on declassified intelligence files British American and Japanese archival material and military memoirs to provide a stunning and complete history of the conflict This superbly readable insightful gripping Washington Post Book World contribution to WWII history combines impeccable research with electrifying detail and offers provocative interpretations of this brutal forty four month struggle Author and historian Ronald H Spector reassesses US and Japanese strategy and shows that the dual advance across the Pacific by MacArthur and Nimitz was more a pragmatic solution to bureaucratic doctrinal and public relations problems facing the Army and Navy than a strategic calculation He also argues that Japan made its fatal error not in the Midway campaign but in abandoning its offensive strategy after that defeat and allowing itself to be drawn into a war of attrition Spector skillfully takes us from top secret strategy meetings in Washington London and Tokyo to distant beaches and remote Asian jungles with battle weary GIs He reveals that the US had secret plans to wage unrestricted submarine warfare against Japan months before Pearl Harbor and shows that MacArthur and his commanders ignored important intercepts of Japanese messages that would have saved thousands of lives in Papua and Leyte Throughout Spector contends that American decisions in the Pacific War were shaped more often by the struggles between the British and the Americans and between the Army and the Navy than by strategic considerations Spector vividly recreates the major battles little known campaigns and unfamiliar events leading up to the deadliest air raid ever adding a new dimension to our understanding of the American war in the Pacific and the people and forces that determined its outcome Railways and Culture in Britain
