Autobiographies of Others Lucia Boldrini, 2012-08-21 In this volume Boldrini examines heterobiography the first person fictional account of a historic life Boldrini shows that this mode is widely employed to reflect critically on the historical and philosophical understanding of the human on individual identity and on the power relationships that define the subject In such texts the grammatical first person becomes the site of an encounter a stage where the relationships between historical fictional and authorial subjectivities are played out and explored in the double I of author and narrating historical character of fictional narrator and historical person Boldrini considers the ethical implications of assuming another's first person voice and the fraught issue of authorial responsibility. Constructions of the body are examined in relation to the material evidence of the subject's existence. Texts studied include Malouf's An Imaginary Life, Carey's True History of the Kelly Gang, Ondaatje's The Collected Works of Billy the Kid, Adair's The Death of the Author, Banti's Artemisia, Viquez Montalbán's Autobiografía del general Franco. Also discussed among others Yourcenar's Memoirs of Hadrian, Tabucchi's The Last Three Days of Fernando Pessoa, Guimarães Rosa's Uma habitacão ajena, A Room of Someone Else's.

Secularism and the Crisis of Minority Identity in Postcolonial Literature Roger McNamara, 2018-06-06. Secularism and the Crisis of Minority Identity in Postcolonial Literature examines how writers from religious and ethnic minority communities—Anglo-Indians, Burghers, Dalits, Muslims, and Parsis in India, and Sri Lanka—engage secularism through novels, short stories, and autobiographies. Given the rise of Hindu nationalism in India and Sinhala Buddhist nationalism in Sri Lanka, it would seem obvious that minorities would rally around secularism, the separation of church and state. However, this book argues that the relationship between minorities and secularism is extremely ambivalent. On the one hand, it shows how writers belonging to oppressed communities can deploy secularism as a mode of critique, secular criticism, to challenge the ideologies of dominant groups, the nation, upper castes, and religious hierarchies. On the other hand, it examines how these writers reveal that other aspects of secularism, secularization, and secular time are responsible for creating essentialized identities that have not only exacerbated relationships between majorities and minorities and between minority groups but have also created tension within minority groups themselves. Turning to aesthetics and religious faith, these writers attempt to undermine secular social and cultural structures that are responsible for this crisis of minority identity.
