These books throw light on the way Luther and Calvin viewed the nature of the Church, though one also includes Meno Simons and contrasts these three views with those of the Tridentine Fathers. Whereas Calvin from the beginning saw the doctrine of the Church as part of the Gospel and indeed, in his reply to Cardinal Sadoletto, cast the Reformation in this mould when he said, 'All we are doing is restoring the ancient face to the church', Luther initially saw reforms of the Church as quite secondary and wrote to Erasmus in 1525, 'moreover I praise you highly for this also that unlike all the rest you alone have attacked the real issue and have not wearied me with irrelevancies about the papacy, purgatory, indulgences and such trifles'.<sup>1</sup>

For Luther, 'the real issue' was justification by grace alone, which after 1518 he expressed almost invariably in terms of the incarnation. 'For if

Reshaping Ecumenical Theology Paul Avis, 2010-02-11 Reshaping Ecumenical Theology is a major contribution to the study of the Church It provides clear and authoritative orientation for the student while probing deep into a range of key issues in ecclesiology and ecumenical dialogue from a critical standpoint that will stimulate discussion among scholars and ecumenists It reclaims some old orthodoxies while challenging some new ones and points to a deeper and more personal engagement with the major traditions of the Christian Church as the way to fuller unity and more effective mission Reshaping Ecumenical Theology argues that the values of difference and diversity and the priority of mission and evangelisation must shape our picture of unity It transcends old arguments about establishment by showing that all churches are compelled to develop a constructive relationship to the modern state wherever possible if they are to be effective in mission The central ecumenical notion of reception is re interpreted not as the faithful unquestioningly receiving the teaching of church authorities but as the process whereby the whole Church discerns the truth of new developments The mantra baptism is complete sacramental initiation is challenged and the place of confirmation is secured within a total process of initiation The ministry of the episcopate is affirmed but only by being related to the gospel on which the Church is founded The nature of communion is examined and the imperative of maintaining it against divisive tendencies is affirmed The hermeneutics of unity shows that we are shaped by each other through the conflict or rivalry of traditions We are what we are because you are what you are

Richard Hooker's Doctrine of the Royal Supremacy W.J.T. Kirby,2021-11-01 In the eighth book of his treatise Of the Lawes of Ecclesiasticall Politie Richard Hooker defends the royal headship of the Church of England in a remarkable series of theological arguments His apologetic intention was to resolve the consciences of the Disciplinary Puritan critics of the Elizabethan Settlement by a demonstration that the Royal Supremacy was wholly consistent with the principles of doctrinal orthodoxy as understood and upheld by the Magisterial Reformation This study commences with a look at some current problems of interpretation and then examines Hooker s apologetic aim and methodology Subsequent chapters demonstrate Hooker s reliance on the teaching of the Magisterial Reformers in the formulation of both the soteriological foundations of his political thought and his ecclesiology Hooker s appeal to the authority of Patristic Christological and Trinitarian Orthodoxy in support of the Royal Supremacy is also discussed The purpose of this book is to uncover the theological roots of a central aspect of Hooker s political thought and thereby to attempt to shed new light on an important Elizabethan controversy

The Church in Anglican Theology Kenneth A. Locke,2016-09-17 This book is the first systematic attempt to describe a coherent and comprehensive Anglican understanding of Church Rather than focusing on one school of thought Dr Locke unites under one ecclesiological umbrella the seemingly disparate views that have shaped Anglican reflections on Church He does so by exploring three central historical developments 1 the influence of Protestantism 2 the Anglican defence of episcopacy and 3 the development of the Anglican practice of authority Dr Locke demonstrates how the interaction of these three historical influences laid the foundations of an Anglican understanding of Church that continues to guide and shape Anglican identity He shows how this understanding of Church has shaped recent Anglican ecumenical dialogues with Reformed Lutheran Orthodox and Roman Catholic Churches Drawing on the principle that dialogue with those who are different can lead to greater self understanding and self realization Dr Locke demonstrates that Anglican self identity rests on firmer ecclesiological foundations than is sometimes supposed

Richard Hooker, Reformer and Platonist W. J. Neoplatonism and his appeal to the authority of patristic sources are all closely examined Challenging the received exceptionalist model of much of the twentieth century interpretation of Hooker in particular the concept of his supposed defence of the English Reformation as striking a via media between Rome and mainstream Protestant Reform Torrance Kirby argues that Hooker adheres to principles of Magisterial reform while building upon the assumptions of a distinctively Protestant version of Platonism Marking the Church Greg Peters, Matt Jenson, 2016-12-09 More than one person has joked over the years that Evangelical believers do not have an ecclesiology In one sense that is absurd Evangelical churches especially if you include Pentecostals in that group are some of the fastest growing most vibrant churches in the world Evangelicals are proclaiming the gospel praising the Lord reading the Bible and loving the poor But there is a case to be made that the Evangelical devotion to the mission of the church has left Evangelicals with little time to reflect on the church itself In this collection of essays first given at annual meetings of the Evangelical Theological Society the authors take time to reflect on the nature of the church in an Evangelical context asking after the way in which it is one holy catholic and apostolic The Future of Christology Dong-Kun Kim, 2019-06-28 The Future of Christology addresses the questions that Christology currently faces and or will face in 12 topics The book consists of two parts In the first part Kim deals with five topics related to traditional Christology while in the second part he wrestles with seven topics related to issues of Christology The twenty first century is a challenging time for Christianity Many in our age are asking what Jesus Christ means in various dimensions of history culture nature and even beyond the Earth Changes in values worldviews and views of the universe are forming a new zeitgeist Dong Kun Kim argues that ways of understanding Christ should change accordingly for a Christology that fails to communicate meaningfully with the times is void of vitality Postmodernism dehistoricization and life post ideology multiculturalism multiple religions and above all the rapid development of the natural sciences pose a serious challenge to traditional Christology Who is Christ in the age of an infinite cosmos How do daily human life social devotion and praxis relate to salvation How can we discuss salvation history in an era post history Where does Christ stand in the public sphere Can the Chalcedonian definition of the two natures of Christ true God and true human being encompass nature and the cosmos would a third nature of Christ be necessary Will the cyborg which may appear in the near future be the object of Christ's salvation If scientific determinism becomes popular in the future will the basis of faith in Christ lose ground If intelligent life exists in the universe what does Christ mean to such life This book provides innovative answers to these questions in an academic context
