Bondarenko, 2023-05-30 Using historical and anthropological analysis in Post Colonial Nations in Historical and Cultural Context Dmitri M Bondarenko examines nation building in Tanzania Uganda and Zambia He examines the nation and state as concepts and how these are changing globally particularly in regard to the idea that the fundamental characteristic of a nation is a culturally homogeneous community This feature became a cornerstone of the concept of the nation at its formation in the West by the end of the eighteenth century but post colonial migration flows from the Global South to the Global North are increasing multi culturalism in the North In contrast liberated states of Asia and Africa have been multi cultural from earlier on as they inherited the colonial borders in which typically many peoples were united Throughout the book Bondarenko argues that this history of multi culturalism is an advantage to development in the Global South and that it s necessary to depart from the classical Western concept of the nation to simultaneously support citizen unity while preserving cultural diversity The Historical and Cultural Context of Liangzhu Ningyuan Wang, 2022-01-24 This book clarifies the advent of Liangzhu Culture and analyses the morphology structure and internal social organization of grass root settlements medium size settlements and the ancient city of Liangzhu as well as the religious beliefs ideology and power mechanisms represented by jade Further the book explains how the low lying location and humid environment in the water net plain area prompted the creation of man made platforms or pillars forming small and densely settled residential areas and ultimately the water villages of southern China Developments between man and nature accelerated the process of civilization leading to the polarization of social classes and pyramid shaped residential structures containing cities towns and villages Offering unique insights into the social vitality and structure of Liangzhu society the book is one of the most important academic works on interpreting the origins of Liangzhu Civilization and investigating Chinese Civilization The Mamluk City in the Middle East Nimrod Luz, 2014-04-28 The Mamluk City in the Middle East offers an interdisciplinary study of urban history urban experience and the nature of urbanism in the region under the rule of the Mamluk Sultanate 1250 1517 The book focuses on three less explored but politically significant cities in the Syrian region Jerusalem Safad now in Israel and Tripoli now in Lebanon and presents a new approach and methodology for understanding historical cities Drawing on diverse textual sources and intensive field surveys Nimrod Luz reveals the character of the Mamluk city as well as various aspects of urbanism in the region establishing the pre modern city of the Middle East as a valid and useful lens through which to study various themes such as architecture art history history and politics of the built environment As part of this approach Luz considers the processes by which Mamluk discourses of urbanism were conceptualized and then inscribed in the urban environment as concrete expressions of architectural design spatial planning and public memorialization Text and Image in the City Catherine Armstrong, John Hinks, 2017-03-07 The essays in this collection discuss how the city is textualized and address many aspects of how texts and images are written and produced in and about cities They demonstrate how urban texts and images provoke reactions in city dwellers visitors civic and political actors that in turn impact upon the shape of the city itself Many kinds of urban texts both manuscript and print are discussed including chapbooks periodicals poetry graffiti and street signs The essays derive from a range of disciplines including book history urban history cultural history literary studies art history and urban planning and explore some key questions in urban cultural history including the relationship between text image and the city the function of the text or image within an urban environment how urban texts and images have been used by those in positions of power and by those with little or no power the ways in which urban identity and values have been reflected in street literature graffiti and subversive texts and images and whether theories of urban space can help us to understand the relationship between text image and the city As such this volume will serve to enhance the reader's understanding of the nature of urbanism from a historical perspective the creation and representation of urban space and the processes of urbanization It investigates how the creation distribution and consumption of urban texts and images actively affect the shaping of the city itself a mutually constitutive process whereby text image and city create and sustain each other The Myth of the North American City Michael Goldberg, John Mercer, 2011-11-01 The continuing tendency to continentalize Canadian issues has been particularly marked in the area of urban studies where United States based research findings methodologies and attitudes have held sway In this book Goldberg and Mercer demonstrate that the label North American City as widely used is inappropriate and misleading in discussion of the distinctive Canadian urban environment Examining such elements of the cultural context as mass values social and demographic structures the economy and political institutions they reveal salient differences between Canada and the United States One of the most important of the many contextual differences is the strong collective sense in Canada which accepts more public intervention in social and economic matters in contrast to the American commitment to individualism Canadians consequently expect a livable central city which is compact and well served by public transit and which has a fiscally sound local government To demonstrate these issues the discussion includes a detailed cross national empirical analysis of over 300 North American metropolitan areas along some three dozen dimensions including density transportation household change and structure income and fiscal disparities and economic structure Since much urban planning in Canada is based upon the continentalist assumption this volume should generate a reassessment of policy and encourage the development of a research base to suit the distinctiveness of the Canadian experience With growing pressures to take a North American view of Canadian policies it is vitality important that the differences delineated in this book are understood not just for their urban policy implications but for broader purposes as well

Representing the City Anthony D. King, 1996-02 Classic representations of the city have focused on simplistic urban dichotomies such as renewal or decline poverty or prosperity and vice or vigor We are left with the question of what actually constitutes a city and what makes it and its people succeed or fail Recent writing on the city however has begun to question the images metaphors and discourses through which the contemporary city is represented Discussing recent visual architectural and spatial transformations in New York and other major world cities in relation to the themes of ethnicity capital and culture Re Presenting the City moves between interpretive representations of the newly emerging metropolis and the theoretical and methodological questions raised by the task of such representations Contributors with backgrounds in urban planning sociology cultural studies architecture art history geography and philosophy reflect on the construction of both the real and the unreal city the images metaphors and discourses through which the contemporary city is represented and the texts which both mediate our experience of as well as contribute to producing the city of the future
