Nima Lee,2016-12-20 2016 marks the 50th anniversary of the outbreak of the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution This extraordinary yet relatively unknown period is vibrantly captured in a sequence of short stories full of tragedy humour and satire in beautifully crafted vignettes of life at the time both ordinary and otherwise The Colour of Red is a gripping debut collection of short stories set in China and is based on true events that took place between 1966 and 1976 Nima Lee paints the moving human dramas behind this turbulent period in a powerful amalgam of betrayal love hate ridicule and brutality With the revival of an autocratic personality cult in China today it is a stark reminder of potential catastrophic consequences Stories include The Helmsman which is a unique portrayal of Mao as an ordinary man in an ordinary day elevated to an extraordinary position In contrast to many books Lee encourages the reader to form their own views and judgements on this prominent historic figure who dominated Chinese politics for a century In stark contrast The Autumns Tale will touch your heart at the fate of two young lovers while Mango recounts perhaps one of the most bizarre episodes in recent history In this remarkable collection Nima Lee reveals both the tribulations inflicted upon and the resilience of ordinary Chinese people through her variety of characters including a ten year old girl a journalist red guards university students and soldiers Written in chronological order The Colour of Red is a highly informative and thoroughly entertaining collection that uses historical facts to bring fictional characters to life In every sense Lee has made the Cultural Revolution unforgettable skilfully navigating the subject and exploring the politics of the time without being judgemental maintaining a high level of writing that moves one to tears The Colour of Violence Roderic Jeffries,Jeffrey Ashford,1974 The Ancient Colour Code

Samya Ilaria Di Donato,2025-02-04 The book by Samya Ilaria Di Donato provides the key to the ancient colour code tracing its origins from the medieval research of Saint Yves d Alveydre At the centre of this exploration lays the Archaeometer an unlocking tool for the colour archetypes treasure box The archeometer helps inquiring the core meaning of many pearls of wisdom from antiquity It is a symbolic representation of the harmonious convergence of cosmic elements The Author puts her focus on four primary colour triads bearing a deep meaning in different aspects of life the Triad of Infinite Possibilities the Triad of Happiness the Triad of Success and the Triad of the Soul Each triad includes three distinct colours showing their own characteristics and influences This book is a practical guide that provides insights and methods for life improvement by harnessing the power of colours Through simple but deliberate colour adjustments readers can gradually improve countless aspects of their lives embarking on a path of personal growth and fulfilment

Black Boys Clive Chijioke Nwonka, 2023-08-24 In Black Boys The Aesthetics of British Urban Film Nwonka offers the first dedicated analysis of Black British urban cinematic and televisual representation as a textual encounter with Blackness masculinity and urban identity where the generic construction of images and narratives of Black urbanity is informed by the unknowable allure of Black urban Otherness Foregrounding the textual Black urban identity as a historical formation and drawing on a range of theoretical frameworks that allow for an examination of the emergence and continued social cultural and industrial investment in the fictitious and non fictitious images of Black urban identities and geographies Nwonka convenes a dialogue between the disciplines of Film and Television Studies Philosophy Cultural Studies Black Studies Sociology and Criminology Here Nwonka ventures beyond what can be understood as the perennial and simplistic optic of racial stereotype in order to advance a more expansive reading of the Black British urban text as the outcome of a complex conjunctural interaction between social phenomena cultural policy political discourse and the continuously shifting politics of Black representation Through the analysis of a number of texts and political and socio cultural moments Nwonka identifies Black urban textuality as conditioned by a bidirectionality rooted in historical and contemporary questions of race racism and anti Blackness but equally attentive to the social dynamics that render the screen as a site of Black recognition authorship and authenticity Analysed in the context of realism social and political allegory urban multicultural Black corporeality and racial gender and sexual politics in integrating such considerations into the fabrics of a thematic reading of the Black urban text and through the writings of Stuart Hall Paul Gilroy Judith Butler and Derrida Black Boys presents a critical rethinking of the contextual and aesthetic factors in the visual constructions of Black urban identity

Colour, Art and Empire Natasha Eaton, 2013-10-28 Colour Art and Empire explores the entanglements of visual culture enchanted technologies waste revolution resistance and otherness The materiality of colour offers a critical and timely force field for approaching afresh debates on colonialism This book analyses the formation of colour and politics as qualitative overspill Colour can be viewed both as central and supplemental to early photography the totem alchemy tantra and mysticism From the eighteenth century Austrian Empress Maria Theresa to Rabindranath Tagore and Gandhi to 1970s Bollywood colour makes us adjust our take on the politics of the human sensorium as defamiliarising and disorienting The four chapters conjecture how European Indian and Papua New Guinean artists writers scientists activists anthropologists or their subjects sought to negotiate the highly problematic stasis of colour in the repainting of modernity Specifically the thesis of this book traces Europeans admiration and emulation of what they termed Indian colour to its gradual denigration and the emergence of a space of exception This space of exception pitted industrial colours against the colonial desire for a massive workforce whose slave like exploitation ignited riots against the production of pigments most notably indigo Feared or derided the figure of the vernacular dyer constituted a force capable of dismantling the imperial machinations of colour Colour thus wreaks havoc with Western expectations of biological determinism objectivity and eugenics Beyond the cracks of such discursive practice colour becomes a sentient and nomadic retort to be pitted against a perceived colonial hegemony The ideological reinvention of colour as a resource for independence struggles make it fundamental to multivalent genealogies of artistic and political action and their relevance to the present

Palpasa Café Narayan Wagle, 2018-07-06 Palpasa Caf tells the story of an artist Drishya during the height of the Nepalese Civil War The novel is partly a love story of Drishya and the first generation American Nepali Palpasa who has returned to the land of her parents after 9 11 It is often called an anti war novel and describes the effects of the civil war on the Nepali countryside that Drishya travels to

The Zimbabwean Maverick Shun Man Emily CHOW-QUESADA, 2022-10-26 This book seeks to unfold the complexity within the works of Dambudzo Marechera and presents scholars and readers with a way of reading his works in light of utopian thinking Writing during a traumatic transitional period in Zimbabwe s history Marechera witnessed the upheavals caused by different parties battling for power in the nation Aware of the fact that all institutionalized narratives whether they originated from the colonial governance of the UK Ian Smith's white minority regime or Zimbabwe's revolutionary parties appeal to visions of a utopian society but reveal themselves to be fiction Marechera imagined a unique utopia For Marechera utopia is not a static entity but a moment of perpetual change He rethinks utopia by phrasing it as an ongoing event that ceaselessly contests institutionalized narratives of the postcolonial self and its relationship to society Marechera writes towards a vision of an alternative future for the country Yet it is a vision that does not constitute a fully rounded sense of utopia Being cautious about the world and the operation of power upon the people rather than imposing his own utopian ideals Marechera chooses instead to destabilize the narrative constitution of the self in relation to society in order to turn towards a truly radical utopian thinking that empowers the individual The U.S. South and Europe Cornelis A. van Minnen, Manfred Berg, 2013-11-28 The U S South is a distinctive political and cultural force not only in the eyes of Americans but also in the estimation of many Europeans The region played a distinctive role as a major agricultural center and the source of much of the wealth in early America but it has also served as a catalyst for the nation's only civil war and later as a battleground in violent civil rights conflicts Once considered isolated and benighted by the international community the South has recently evoked considerable interest among popular audiences and academic observers on both sides of the Atlantic In The U S South and Europe editors Cornelis A van Minnen and Manfred Berg have assembled contributions that interpret a number of political cultural and religious aspects of the transatlantic relationship during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The contributors discuss a variety of subjects including European colonization travel accounts of southerners visiting Europe and the experiences of German immigrants who settled in the South The collection also examines slavery foreign recognition of the Confederacy as a sovereign government the lynching of African Americans and Italian immigrants and transatlantic religious fundamentalism Finally it addresses international perceptions of the Jim Crow South and the civil rights movement as a framework for understanding race relations in the United Kingdom after World War II Featuring contributions from leading scholars based in the United States and Europe this illuminating volume explores the South from an international perspective and offers a new context from which to consider the region's history Remapping an Ableist World Vera Chouinard, 2025-02-28 Remapping an Ableist World examines the forces shaping our lives in an able capitalist world It draws on examples including human enhancement and the organ trade to illustrate connections between able capitalist ways of life impairment disability and oppression The book addresses ableness as a regime of power and oppression intrinsic to global capitalism and as such a system that touches all of our lives albeit in different ways Vera Chouinard offers an intersectional analysis of the production of impairment and disability drawing on autoethnographic and autobiographical methodologies case studies of disability in the Global South and North and comparative accounts of processes such as the uneven development of disability law Inviting readers to rethink the causes and consequences of the ableist capitalist order in which we find ourselves Remapping an Ableist World reminds us that for our own well being and that of generations to come we must forge a less destructive and more nurturing way of life The
