Stories We Listened To:

Stories We've Heard, Stories We've Told Jeffrey Kottler, 2014-09-26 This is a book that integrates what is known from a wide variety of disciplines about the nature of storytelling and how it influences and transforms people's lives. Drawing on material from the humanities, sociology, anthropology, neurophysiology, media and communication studies, narrative inquiry, indigenous healing traditions, as well as education, counseling and therapy, the book explores the ways that therapists operate as professional storytellers. In addition, our job is to hold and honor the stories of our clients, helping them to reshape them in more constructive ways. The book itself is written as a story, utilizing engaging prose, research, photographs and powerful anecdotes to draw readers into the intriguing dynamics and processes involved in therapeutic storytelling. It sets the stage for what follows by discussing the ways that stories have influenced history, cultural development and individual worldviews, and then delves into the ways that everyday lives are impacted by the stories we hear, read and view in popular media. The focus then moves to stories within the context of therapy, exploring how client stories are told, heard and negotiated in sessions. Attention then moves to the ways that therapists can become more skilled and accomplished storytellers, regardless of their theoretical preferences and style.

Stories we live and grow by Muna Saleh, 2019-02-01 Interweaving my experiences as a Canadian Muslim woman, mother, grand daughter, educator and scholar throughout this work, I write about living and narratively inquiring. Clandinin and Connelly, Narrative Inquiry. Clandinin, alongside three Muslim mothers and daughters, during our daughters' transition into adolescence. I was interested in mother and daughter experiences during this time of life transition because my eldest daughter, Malak, was in the midst of transitioning into adolescence as I embarked upon my doctoral research. I had many wonders about Malak's experiences, my experiences as a mother, and the experiences of other Muslim daughters and mothers in the midst of similar life transitions. I wondered about how dominant narratives from within and across Muslim and other communities in Canada shape our lives and experiences. For while we are often storied as victims of various oppressions in media, literature and elsewhere, little is known about our diverse experiences, particularly the experiences of Muslim mothers and daughters composing our selves and lives alongside one another in familial places.

Live, Listen, Tell Geoff New, 2017-03-03 Live Listen Tell: The Art of Preaching will guide readers through the process of sermon preparation and hearing God through the Scriptures. By drawing on life and Scripture, especially the road to Emmaus narrative in Luke 24, the author illustrates that preachers are living a story, listening to a story and telling a story. This book encourages you to pay particular attention through prayer to the story to which you are listening. Geoff New shows how to prayerfully listen to the Scriptures in preaching preparation and how the fruit of this leads to a sermon and impacts the way we live, listen and tell.

Listening to Our Grandmothers' Stories Amanda J. Cobb, 2007-01-01 A historical narrative of the Bloomfield Academy, its impact on educational development of the Native women who attended the school and how it related to the education of the general Native population.

Stories We Don't Tell Anna Ray, Eliza Harrison, 2021-09-29 In every family there are secrets half truths and altered stories told in an attempt to hide the brokenness over the generations When one mother and daughter decide to cut through the deceit and come clean about the past they discover shared experiences and find a way to make peace with the mistakes that defined them When Anna Ray s firstborn son dies tragically from brain damage after a doctor s thoughtless mistake she never anticipates how that loss might come back to haunt her years later Yet when her granddaughter Annalise faces paralysis and a partial brain removal due to a medical mistake she is thrown back into that place she faced when she was a young mother How can Anna learn from the past and help her family trust God through heartache and loss once again Stories We Dance / Stories We Tell Karen Schupp, Sherrie Barr, 2025-07-18

Higher education continually mediates long standing traditions while seeking new ways of thinking creating a quiet tension as institutions respond to shifting and multiple socio cultural values Dance programs not immune to these currents must consider intersecting obligations to build a more equitable curriculum meet the needs of an increasingly diverse population and prepare students for a wider array of dance based careers In view of their critical role in stewarding the next generation of dance artists educators scholars leaders and fostering change in higher education faculty must give more attention to the experiences of those committed to dance in higher education This collection articulates and considers these lived experiences revealing the inner workings of dance in higher education Autoethnographic essays varying in style and scope illuminate the pressures encountered across one s career trajectory By unearthing and contextualizing hidden challenges expectations and opportunities the authors speak to possibilities for how proactive change in dance education can occur

Why Don't We Listen Better? Jim Petersen, 2007 With a light touch and sensible techniques Dr Jim Petersen distills years of counseling and pastoral ministry into an informal volume loaded with practical tips examples and techniques to practice

His book highlights our culture's courtroom like communication that often puts people at odds with each other. Most people think they listen well but don't and folks walk away unheard, misunderstood and disconnected. Readers will chuckle in recognition at the tongue in cheek but spot on flat brain theory of emotions. It shows how and why we get upset and confused in tense situations and what to do about it. It lays the practical groundwork to better manage emotionally loaded situations. This book shows communication that works and is equally appropriate for professionals such as pastors and therapists and for the general public. The ingenious Talker Listener Card gives a taking turn method to end arguing as we know it. It works for couples, business relationships, church listening programs, counselors, group discussions and the family dinner table listening game. Thirty listening techniques will help the reader immediately begin to turn enemies into friends, poor relationships into decent ones and good relationships into better ones. These accessible skills are being used in pastoral counseling classes, counseling offices, church staffs, professional offices, on dates, in corporate board rooms and at kitchen tables around the country.

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Dawne Gurbutt, Peter Cattee, 2018-12-14 finding my baby that day shattered my life, nothing would ever ever be the same way again. This insightful guide is based on real life accounts from mothers who have experienced Sudden Infant Death Syndrome. Focusing on grief, motherhood and maternal identity, the book is an intriguing read, often upsetting yet desperately compelling. The stories and poignant memories bring the subject to life. Health and social care professionals will find a wealth of emotional and practical insights to improve professional practice as will psychiatrists, psychologists, counsellors and therapists. This book has been written primarily to enable others to reflect on some of the stories which circulate around SIDS. They are not always easy stories to write or easy stories to read but they are stories that need to be told and heard so that we can increase understanding of SIDS. Dawne J Gurbutt in the Preface.
