Philosophy of Economics Oliver Schlaudt, 2021-10-27 Philosophy of Economics A Heterodox Introduction provides an introduction to the philosophy of economics through the prism of heterodoxy Heterodox economics covers a range of approaches and schools of thought but what they have as a common denominator is the conviction that economic phenomena cannot be understood and thus must not be studied in isolation from their relevant context Conversely the current form of neoclassical economics emerged from the conviction that there is something like economic rationality sui generis which can be treated independently from all other aspects of our world social or natural Heterodox approaches challenge this conviction from a variety of angles the economic actor is not isolated but lives in society which shapes him market goods are only one kind of goods among others constituting a larger set with ambiguous and shifting inner frontiers production of goods takes place within nature is subjected to physical laws and induces in most cases ecologically problematic fluxes of matter e g waste finally the whole economic process in general is not in equilibrium but shows secular trends through which it is connected to the historical world This book demonstrates the vitality of these heterodox challenges from a philosophical point of view because not only do they formulate new hypotheses within economics but they challenge economic theory on a much more fundamental level how is the economy situated in the world and which are the right methods for its investigation This book is an ideal introduction for anyone seeking alternative or critical perspectives on the philosophy of economics and economic theory

Carving Out the Commons Amanda Huron, 2018-03-13 An investigation of the practice of commoning in urban housing and its necessity for challenging economic injustice in our rapidly gentrifying cities Provoked by mass evictions and the onset of gentrification in the 1970s tenants in Washington D C began forming cooperative organizations to collectively purchase and manage their apartment buildings

These tenants were creating a commons taking a resource housing that had been used to extract profit from them and reshaping it as a resource that was collectively owned by them In Carving Out the Commons Amanda Huron theorizes the practice of urban commoning through a close investigation of the city's limited equity housing cooperatives Drawing on feminist and anticapitalist perspectives Huron asks whether a commons can work in a city where land and other resources are scarce and how strangers who may not share a past or future come together to create and maintain commonly held spaces in the midst of capitalism Arguing against the romanticization of the commons she instead positions the urban commons as a pragmatic practice Through the practice of commoning she contends we can learn to build communities to challenge capitalism's totalizing claims over life

Handbook Global History of Work Karin Hofmeester, Marcel van der Linden, 2017-11-20 Coffee from East Africa wine from California chocolate from the Ivory Coast all those every day products are based on labour often produced under appalling conditions but always involving the combination of various work processes we are often not aware of What is the day to day reality for workers in various parts of the world and how was it in the past How do they work today and how did they work in the past These and many other questions comprise the field of the global history of work a young discipline that is introduced with this handbook In 8 thematic chapters this book discusses these aspects of work in a global and long term perspective paying attention to several kinds of work Convict labour slave and wage labour labour migration and workers of the textile industry but also workers organisation strikes and motivations for work are part of this first handbook of global labour history written by the most renowned scholars of the profession

Rethinking Work and Learning Peter Willis, Stephen Mckenzie, Roger Harris, 2008-11-02 Rethinking a Sustainable Society Alan Mayne The world has already passed the midway point for achieving by 2015 the eight Millennium Development Goals for a more peaceful prosperous and just world that were set by the United Nations in the wake of its inspirational Millennium Declaration in 2000 These goals range from combating poverty hunger and disease to empowering women and ensuring environmental sustainability However Ban Ki Moon the United Nations Secretary General conceded in 2007 that progress to date has been mixed During 2008 the head of the United Nations World Food Programme cautioned that because of the surge in world commodity prices the program had insufficient money to stave off global malnutrition and the World Health Organization warned of a global crisis in water and sanitation Depressing news accounts accumulate about opportunities missed to achieve a fairer world order and ecological sustainability the manipulation of election results in Africa human rights abuses in China 4000 Americans dead and another nation torn apart by a senseless and protracted war in Iraq and weasel words by the world's political leadership in the lead up to negotiations for a climate change deal in 2009 that is supposed to stabilize global carbon dioxide emissions It is clear that the parameters of the debates that drive progressive policy change urgently require repositioning and energizing As is shown by the contributors to Rethinking work and learning experts in the humanities and social sciences HASS could have an important role to play in this process

Africa in the Colonial Ages of

Empire Tatah Mentan, 2017-12-17 Words like colonialism and empire were once frowned upon in the U S and other Western mainstream media as worn out left wing rhetoric that didnt fit reality Not anymore Tatah Mentan observes that a growing chorus of right wing ideologues with close ties to the Western administrations war making hawks in NATO are encouraging Washington and the rest of Europe to take pride in the expansion of their power over people and nations around the globe Africa in the Colonial Ages of Empire is written from the perspective that the scholarly lives of academics researching on Africa are changing constantly in flux and increasingly bound to the demands of Western colonial imperialism This existential situation has forced the continent to morph into a tool in the hands of Colonial Empire According to Tatah Mentan the effects of this existential situation of Africa compel serious academic scrutiny At the same time inquiry into the African predicament has been changing and evolving within and against the rhythms of this new normal of Colonial Empire Old or New The author insists that the long and bloody history of imperial conquest that began with the dawn of capitalism needs critical scholarly examination As Marx wrote in Capital The discovery of gold and silver in America the extirpation enslavement and entombment in mines of the aboriginal population the beginning of the conquest and looting of the East Indies the turning of Africa into a warren for the commercial hunting of black skins signaled the rosy dawn of the era of capitalist production These idyllic proceedings are the chief moment of primitive accumulation Africa in the Colonial Ages of Empire is therefore a MUST READ for faculty students as well as policy makers alike in the changing dynamics of their profession be it theoretically methodologically or structurally and materially

Social Justice and the World of Work Brian

Langille, Anne Trebilcock, 2023-02-23 In this book leading international thinkers take up the demanding challenge to rethink our understanding of social justice at work and our means for achieving it at a time when global forces are tearing the familiar fabric of our working lives and the laws regulating them When fabric is torn we can see deeply into it understand its structural weaknesses and imagine alterations in the name of resilience and sustainability Seizing that opportunity the authoritative commentators examine the lessons revealed by the pandemic and other global shocks for our ideas about justice at work and how to advance that cause in the world as we now find it The chapters deliver critical re assessments of our goals explore our new challenges and creatively re imagine trajectories for progress on two global fronts via international institutions and by a myriad of other transnational techniques These forward looking essays are in honour of Francis Maupain whose international career and scholarly writing are inspiring models for those who in a changing world seize opportunities for creativity in the pursuit of global justice at work
