Succesful Irish Businebwomen:

The Kennedy Women Laurence Leamer, 1996-09-29 A FRESH AND UNVARNISHED PORTRAIT OF A FASCINATING TALENTED AND DEEPLY FLAWED FAMILY Boston Herald Laurence Leamer was granted unheralded access to private Kennedy papers and he interviewed family and old friends many of whom had never been interviewed before for this incredible portrait of the women in America's royal family From Bridget Murphy the foremother who touched shore at East Boston in 1849 to the intelligent independent Kennedy women of today Laurence Leamer tells their unforgettable stories Here are the private thoughts of Kathleen the flirtatious debutante in prewar England the truth behind Joe Kennedy's insistence that his mildly retarded daughter Rosemary be lobotomized the real story behind Joan and Ted's whirlwind romance Jackie's desire for a divorce from JFK in the 1950s Pat Lawford's disastrous Hollywood marriage how Caroline discovered her cousin David's death by overdose and more Tough enough to withstand the unimaginable these Kennedy women soldier on in the name of their extraordinary family and what they believe is right MASTERFUL AN ENDLESSLY FASCINATING READ A wealth of beautifully rendered social detail at times reading like a realist novel by Edith Wharton A page turner from start to finish The Dallas Morning News

The Commercial Lives of Irish Women, 1850-1922 Antonia Hart, 2025-10-14 This book examines Irish women's lives in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries from a new angle investigating how they inherited bought or started up businesses Some guided their operations to impressive profit and growth while others coped with devastating failure The many and varied primary sources which inform Antonia Hart's research place all these businesswomen in public facing roles in commercial environments making economic decisions and operating with autonomy which they sought out and claimed These were not unusual women They were present in the main streets of towns and cities their businesses both visible and unsurprising to passers by Women's businesses mattered They enabled employees both women and men to earn their livings They paid fees for professional services to accounting and legal firms They contributed to the local and national economies They provided training and sometimes accommodation for apprentices Women's businesses mattered in the credit economy not only in their extension of credit for goods and services but also in the form of collateralised loans from the pawnbroker's counter while the Dublin pawnbrokers also contributed an annual sum to the city policing budget In the context of well ventilated ideas about what a woman should be many girls grew up seeing their teachers mothers sisters and neighbours bring pragmatism and creativity into commercial lives This book shows how private realities diverged from public ideals and describes for the first time a robust and intriguing national heritage of Irish female entrepreneurship British and Irish Women Writers and the Women's Movement Jill

Franks, 2013-03-08 This study pairs selected Irish and British women novelists of three periods relating their voices to the women's movements in their respective nations In the first wave nationalist and militant ideologies competed with the suffrage fight in Ireland Elizabeth Bowen's The Last September illustrates the melancholy of gender performance and confusion of ethnic identity in the dying Anglo Irish Ascendancy class In England suffrage ideologies clashed with socialism and patriotism Virginia Woolf's Mrs Dalloway contains a political unconscious that links its characters across class and gender In the second wave heterosexual romantic relationships come under scrutiny Edna O'Brien's Country Girls trilogy reveals ways in which Irish Catholic ideologies abject femaleness her characters internalize this abjection to the point of self destruction Doris Lessing's The Golden Notebook pits the protagonist's aspirations to write novels against the Communist Party's prohibitions on bourgeois values In the third wave Irish writers express the frustrations of their cultural identity Nuala O Faolain's My Dream of You takes her protagonist back to Ireland to heal her psychic wounds In England Thatcherism had created a materialistic culture that eroded many feminists' socialist values Fay Weldon's Big Woman satirizes the demise of second wave idealism asking where feminism can go from here

Irish women's writing, 1878-1922 Anna Pilz, Whitney Standlee, 2016-07-01 Irish women writers entered the British and international publishing scene in unprecedented numbers in the period between 1878 and 1922 Literary history is only now beginning to give them the attention they deserve for their contributions to the literary landscape of Ireland which has included far more women writers with far more diverse identities than hitherto acknowledged This collection of new essays by leading scholars explores how women writers including Emily Lawless L T Meade Katharine Tynan Lady Gregory Rosa Mulholland Ella Young and Beatrice Grimshaw used their work to advance their own private and public political concerns through astute manoeuvrings both in the expanding publishing industry and against the partisan expectations of an ever growing readership The chapters investigate their dialogue with a contemporary politics that included the topics of education cosmopolitanism language empire economics philanthropy socialism the marriage market the publishing industry readership's the commercial market and employment

The Irish Short Story at the Turn of the Twenty-First Century Madalina Armie, 2022-12-30 In the mid 1990s Ireland was experiencing the best of times The Celtic Tiger seemed to instil in the national consciousness that poverty was a problem of the past The impressive economic performance ensured that the Republic occupied one of the top positions among the world's economic powers During the boom dissident voices continuously criticised what they considered to be a mirage identifying the precariousness of its structures and foretelling its eventual crash The 2008 recession proved them right Throughout this time the Irish contemporary short story expressed distrust Enabled by its capacity to reflect change with immediacy and dexterity the short story saw through the smokescreen created by the Celtic Tiger discourse of well being It reinterpreted and captured the worst and the best of the country and became a bridge connecting tradition and modernity The major objective of this book is to analyse the interactions between fiction and reality during this period in Ireland by studying the short stories written by old and emergent voices published between the birth of the Celtic Tiger in 1995 up to its immediate aftermath in 2013

A History of Women in Ireland, 1500-1800 Mary O'Dowd, 2016-02-17 The first general survey of the history of women in early modern Ireland Based on an impressive range of source material it presents the results of original research into women's lives and experiences in Ireland from 1500 to 1800. This was a time of considerable change in Ireland as English colonisation, religious reform and urbanisation transformed society on the island. Gaelic society based on dynastic lordships and Brehon Law gave way to an anglicised and centralised form of government and an English legal system. New York Magazine, 1988-08-15. New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea. New York Magazine, 1990-08-13. The 20th century was a time of extraordinary change for the women of Ireland. It began with a ferment of agitation for women's rights and continued with the struggle for Home Rule with women engaged on both sides during the Easter Rising, the War of Independence and the Civil War. Remarkable women emerged from the maelstrom: Hanna Sheehy Skeffington, Maud Gonne and Constance Markievicz. The eruption of civil conflict in the British ruled North in 1969 again divided women among themselves with Bernadette Devlin, Mariead Corrigan and Monica McWilliams representing different strands of the struggle.
