M.,2023-08-28 The armed conflict between the Sudanese Armed Forces SAF and Rapid Support Forces RSF in Sudan entered its sixth month since it erupted on April 15th 2023 with no signs of ending soon The war has caused severe humanitarian catastrophe destroyed key infrastructure and constrained trade and production activities Moreover it disrupted access to public utilities financial services and markets hence triggering considerable scarcity of goods and services In this paper we utilize a Social Accounting Matrix SAM Multiplier modeling framework to assess the economywide implications of these disruptions of economic activity productive resources and livelihoods Results reveal that the economy would shrink to nearly half its size before the war household incomes decline by more than 40 percent in urban and rural areas and the number of poor people increase by 1 8 million if the war continues until the end of the year The impact would have been two thirds less should the war have ended before July 2023 and would be one third less if it would end before October 2023 This study therefore calls for rapid interventions from all relevant parties to help reach an end to the fighting Africa Air University (U.S.).
