The Ming Tribute Grain System:

The Ming Tribute Grain System Ayao Hoshi, 1969 The Ming Tribute Grain System Bosji Ayao, 1969 China's Second Capital - Nanjing under the Ming, 1368-1644 Jun Fang, 2014-05-23 This book is a study of the dual capital system of Ming dynasty China 1368 1644 with a focus on the administrative functions of the auxiliary Southern Capital Nanjing It argues that the immense geographical expanse of the Chinese empire and the poor communication infrastructure of pre modern times necessitated the establishment of an additional capital administration for effective control of the Ming realm The existence of the Southern Capital which has been dismissed by scholars as redundant and insignificant was the author argues justified by its ability to assist the primary Northern Capital better control the southern part of the imperial land The practice of maintaining auxiliary capitals where the bureaucratic structures of the primary capital were replicated in varying degrees was a unique and valuable approach to effecting bureaucratic control over vast territory in pre modern conditions Nanjing translates into English as Southern Capital and Beijing as Northern Capital The Ming World Kenneth M Swope, 2019-08-08 The Ming World draws together scholars from all over the world to bring China's Ming Dynasty 1368 1662 to life exploring recent scholarly trends and academic debates that highlight the dynamism of the Ming and its key place in the early modern world The book is designed to replicate the structure of popular Ming era unofficial histories that gathered information and gossip from a wide variety of fields and disciplines Engaging with a broad array of primary and secondary sources the authors build upon earlier scholarship while extending the field to embrace new theories methodologies and interpretive frameworks It is divided into five thematically linked sections Institutions Ideas Identities Individuals and Interactions Unique in its breadth and scope The Ming World is essential reading for scholars and postgraduates of early modern China the history of East Asia and anyone interested in gaining a broader picture of the colorful Ming world and its inhabitants The Chinese Empire in Local Society Michael Szonyi, Shiyu Zhao, 2020-12-17 This book explores the Ming dynasty 1368 1644 military its impact on local society and its many legacies for Chinese society It is based on extensive original research by scholars using the methodology of historical anthropology an approach that has transformed the study of Chinese history by approaching the subject from the bottom up Its nine chapters each based on a different region of China examine the nature of Ming military institutions and their interaction with local social life over time Several chapters consider the distinctive role of imperial institutions in frontier areas and how they interacted with and affected non Han ethnic groups and ethnic identity Others discuss the long term legacy of Ming military institutions especially across the dynastic divide from Ming to Qing 1644 1912 and the implications of this for understanding more fully the nature of the Qing rule The Ming Tribute Grain System. Translated by Mark Elvin Ayao Hoshi, 1969 Timber and Forestry in Qing China Meng Zhang, 2021-06-30 Winner of the 2022 Charles A Weyerhaeuser Book Award for best book on forest and conservation history sponsored by the Forest History Society Honorable Mention for the 2022 ISCLH First

Biennial Book Prize sponsored by the International Society for Chinese Law and History Traces the sourcing of logs that fueled early modern urbanization In the Qing period 1644 1912 China's population tripled and the flurry of new development generated unprecedented demand for timber Standard environmental histories have often depicted this as an era of reckless deforestation akin to the resource misuse that devastated European forests at the same time This comprehensive new study shows that the reality was more complex as old growth forests were cut down new economic arrangements emerged to develop renewable timber resources Historian Meng Zhang traces the trade routes that connected population centers of the Lower Yangzi Delta to timber supplies on China's southwestern frontier She documents innovative property rights systems and economic incentives that convinced landowners to invest years in growing trees Delving into rare archives to reconstruct business histories she considers both the formal legal mechanisms and the informal interactions that helped balance economic profit with environmental management Of driving concern were questions of sustainability How to maintain a reliable source of timber across decades and centuries And how to sustain a business network across a thousand miles This carefully constructed study makes a major contribution to Chinese economic and environmental history and to world historical discourses on resource management early modern commercialization and sustainable development Speaking of Profit William T. Rowe, 2020-10-26 In the first half of the nineteenth century the Qing Empire faced a crisis It was broadly perceived both inside and outside of government that the prosperous age of the eighteenth century was over Bureaucratic corruption and malaise population pressure and food shortages ecological and infrastructural decay domestic and frontier rebellion adverse balances of trade and eventually a previously inconceivable foreign threat from the West seemed to present hopelessly daunting challenges This study uses the literati reformer Bao Shichen as a prism to understand contemporary perceptions of and proposed solutions to this general crisis Though Bao only briefly and inconsequentially served in office himself he was widely recognized as an expert on each of these matters and his advice was regularly sought by reform minded administrators From examination of his thought on bureaucratic and fiscal restructuring agricultural improvement the grain tribute administration the salt monopoly monetary policy and foreign relations Bao emerges as a consistent advocate of the hard nosed pursuit of material profit in the interests not only of the rural populace but also of the Chinese state and nation anticipating the arguments of self strengthening reformers later in the century The Cambridge History of China Denis Crispin Twitchett, John King Fairbank, 1978 International scholars and sinologists discuss culture economic growth social change political processes and foreign influences in China since the earliest pre dynastic period Elusive Capital Gipouloux, François, 2022-06-09 Offering a fresh analysis of late imperial China this cutting edge book revisits the roles played by merchant networks economic institutions and business practices in the divergence between Europe and China during the trade revolution
