The Modern Poet Poetry Academia And Knowledge Since The 1750s:

The Modern Poet Robert Crawford, 2001-08-09 Addressed to all readers of poetry this is a wide ranging book about the poet's role throughout the last three centuries It argues that a conception of the poets as both primitive and sophisticated emerged in the 1750s Encouraged by the classroom when English literary works began to be studied in universities this view continues to shape our own attitudes towards verse Whether considering Ossian and the Romantics Victorian scholar gypsies Modernist poetries of knowledge or contemporary poetry in Britain Ireland and America The Modern Poet shows how many successive generations of poets have needed to collaborate and to battle with academia

The Modern Poet Robert Crawford, 2001

Larkin, Ideology and Critical Violence J. Osborne, 2007-11-23 This volume combines a theoretical critique of the biographical method that dominates Larkin studies with a revolutionary interpretation of his works that better accounts for their profound influence upon leading Postmodernists like Ian McEwan David Mitchell Carol Ann Duffy Damien Hirst and the creators of Jerry Springer the Opera

Modern Irish and Scottish Literature Richard Alan Barlow, 2022-12-05 Modern Irish and Scottish Literature Connections Contrasts Celticisms explores the ways Irish and Scottish literatures have influenced each other from the 1760s onwards Although an early form of Celticism disappeared with the demise of the Celtic Revivals of Ireland and Scotland the Celtic world and the Celtic temperament remained key themes in central texts of Irish and Scottish literature well into the twentieth century Richard Barlow examines the emergence development and transformation of Celticism within Irish and Scottish writing and identifies key connections between modern Irish and Scottish authors and texts By reading works from figures such as James Macpherson Walter Scott Sydney Owenson Augusta Gregory W B Yeats Fiona Macleod James Joyce Samuel Beckett Hugh MacDiarmid Sorley MacLean and Seamus Heaney in their political and cultural contexts Barlow provides a new account of the characteristics and phases of literary Celticism within Romanticism Modernism and beyond

Representing Place in British Literature and Culture, 1660-1830 Evan Gottlieb, 2016-04-08 Revising traditional rise of the nation state narratives this collection explores the development of and interactions among various forms of local national and transnational identities and affiliations during the long eighteenth century By treating place as historically contingent and socially constructed this volume examines how Britons experienced and related to a landscape altered by agricultural and industrial modernization political and religious reform migration and the building of nascent overseas empires In mapping the literary and cultural geographies of the long eighteenth century the volume poses three challenges to common critical assumptions about the relationships among genre place and periodization First it questions the novel's exclusive hold on the imagining of national communities by examining how poetry drama travel writing and various forms of prose fiction each negotiated the relationships between the local national and global in distinct ways Second it demonstrates how viewing the literature and culture of the long eighteenth century through a broadly conceived lens of place brings to the foreground authors typically considered minor when seen through more traditional aesthetic cultural or theoretical optics Finally it contextualizes Romanticism's long standing associations with the local and the particular suggesting that literary localism did not originate in the Romantic era but instead emerged from previous literary and cultural explorations of space and place Taken together the essays work to displace the nation state as a central category of literary and cultural analysis in eighteenth century studies Whitman, Melville, Crane, and the Labors of American Poetry Peter Riley, 2019-05-23 In Whitman Melville Crane and the Labors of American Poetry Peter Riley confronts our enduring and problematic investment in poetic vocation a myth he argues that continues to inform how all our multifarious labors are understood valued and exploited The book seeks to challenge a dominant cultural logic that frames contingent non vocational labor as a necessary sacrifice that frustrates the righteous progress towards realizing that seemingly purest of callings Poet Incorporating the often overlooked or excluded workaday ephemera of three canonical US Romantic poets Walt Whitman Herman Melville and Hart Crane this volume offers new archival insights that call for a re examination of celebrated literary careers and disputes their status as renowned or tragic icons of creative vocation The poetry of Whitman the real estate dealer Melville the customs inspector and Crane the copywriter Riley contends does not constitute the formal inscription of an antagonistic or discreet poetic labor struggling against quotidian work towards the fulfilment of exceptional individual callings Instead the distracted forms of their poetry are always already intermingled with a variety of apparently lesser labors Ousting poetic production from its default sanctuary of privileged exemption or transcendent repose the volume refigures the work of the poet as a living sensuous activity that transgresses labor's various divisions and hierarchies It consequently recasts the poet as a figure who actually unfastens the right of passage vocational logic that does so much to secure and reproduce the current neoliberal paradigm

Epic Herbert F. Tucker, 2012-11-29 Literary history has conventionally viewed Milton as the last real practitioner of the epic in English verse Herbert Tucker's spirited book shows that the British tradition of epic poetry was unbroken from the French Revolution to World War I

The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary British and Irish Poetry Peter Robinson, 2013-09-26 This Handbook offers an authoritative and up to date collection of original essays bringing together ground breaking research into the development of contemporary poetry in Britain and Ireland

Folklore and the Fantastic in Nineteenth-Century British Fiction Jason Marc Harris, 2016-04-15 Jason Marc Harris's ambitious book argues that the tensions between folk metaphysics and Enlightenment values produce the literary fantastic Demonstrating that a negotiation with folklore was central to the canon of British literature he explicates the complicated rhetoric associated with folkloric fiction His analysis includes a wide range of writers including James Barrie William Carleton Charles Dickens George Eliot Sheridan Le Fanu Neil Gunn George MacDonald William Sharp Robert Louis Stevenson and James Hogg These authors Harris suggests used folklore to articulate profound cultural ambivalence towards issues of class domesticity education gender imperialism nationalism race politics religion and metaphysics Harris's analysis of the function of folk metaphysics in nineteenth and early twentieth century narratives reveals the ideological agendas of the appropriation of folklore and the artistic potential of superstition in both folkloric and literary contexts of the supernatural

Literature in the First Media Age David Trotter, 2013-12-16 The period between the World Wars was one of the richest and most inventive in the long history of British literature Interwar literature stood apart by virtue of the sheer intelligence of the enquiries it undertook into the technological mediation of experience After around 1925 literary works began to examine the sorts of behavior made possible for the first time by virtual interaction And they began to fill up too with the look sound smell taste and feel of the new synthetic and semi synthetic materials that were reshaping everyday modern life New media and new materials gave writers a fresh opportunity to reimagine both how lives might be lived and how literature might be written Today such material and immaterial mediations have become even more decisive Communications technology is an attitude before it is a machine or a set of codes It is an idea about the prosthetic enhancement of our capacity to communicate The writers who first woke up to this fact were not postwar postmodern or post anything else some of the best of them lived and wrote in the British Isles in the period between the World Wars
