This volume covers a range of on going and newly emerging debates in the study of multinational companies MNCs A key aim is to consolidate and make available in one place new conceptual methodological and critical MNC research The Multinational Firm Glenn Morgan, Peer Hull Kristensen, Richard Whitley, 2003

In contrast to the traditional view of multinational firms as cohesive rational actors maximizing the use of resources across national boundaries the contributors to this volume argue that they are complex social arenas where competing groups draw on resources from their own socially embedded locations in developing new transnational social relationships As firms seek to manage across national and institutional boundaries they stretch their existing capacities and routines and develop new sets of transnational social relationships through different groups competing and cooperating These processes occur at a number of levels which are explored in different empirical settings Firstly at the level of governance multinational firms may develop conflicts between investors from different national contexts e g between the arms length orientation of Anglo Saxon institutional investors and the more committed orientation of investors in certain European and Asian contexts The tension between opening the firm up for foreign investors in order to have access to more and cheaper capital and the consequent effects on management strategy is explored in a number of chapters Secondly at the level of coordinating activities across different sites multinationals may encourage competition between plants in different countries as well as seeking to transfer best practices The result may be pressure on managers and employees in certain plants to give up traditional practices and employment rights Thirdly multinational firms operate in environments where other forms of coordinating international business activity may also occur e g cartels or the creation of international regulatory activity They therefore compete for the regulatory space in complex political environments that will enable them to prosper Multinational Corporations And The Third World C.J. Dixon,2019-03-06 This book an outcome of the conference in 1983 held at the University of Birmingham examines the varied roles played by multinational corporations in the economies of the Third World countries and concentrates more closely on regional national sectoral or corporate levels

Yorgure PhD,2016-12-26 This book a by product of a combination of experience and research contains the model that may potentially end violent conflicts between multinational corporations MNCs and their host communities The author believes that MNCs and host communities can engage in gainful transactions Thus he developed the zero violent conflict model a checklist for multinational corporations and host nations consideration when choosing host communities for MNCs and accepting MNCs for host communities The chapter on social change is an attempt to make a case for implementing the zero violent conflict model Human Rights and World Public Order Myres Smith McDougal,Harold Dwight Lasswell,Lung-chu Chen,2019 As a classic text of the New Haven School of International Law this book explores human rights and international law in the broadest sense taking into account social sciences research while embracing all values secured or consequently fulfilled or needed to thus be achieved The re issuance of this venerable title unveils this work to a new generation of scholars students and practitioners of international law and human rights
