The Minds Eye Readings From Scientific American:

The Mind's Eye Jeremy M. WOLFE,1986 Scientific American ,1916 In the Mind's Eye April Nowell,2001-01-01
The last decade has witnessed a sophistication and proliferation in the number of studies focused on the evolution of human cognition reflecting a renewed interest in the evolution of the human mind in anthropology and in many other disciplines The complexity and enormity of this topic requires the coordinated efforts of many researchers This volume brings together the disciplines of palaeontology psychology anatomy and primatology Together they address a number of issues including the evolution of sex differences in spatial cognition the role of archaeology in the cognitive sciences the relationships between brain size cranial reorganization and hominid cognition and the role of language and information processing in human evolution Metaphor and Cognition B. Indurkha,2013-03-09 Many metaphors go beyond pointing to the existing similarities between two objects they create the similarities Such metaphors which have been relegated to the back seat in most of the cognitive science research are the focus of attention in this study which addresses the creation of similarity within an elaborately laid out interactive framework of cognition Starting from the constructivist views of Nelson Goodman and Jean Piaget this framework resolves an apparent paradox in interactionism how can reality not have a mind independent ontology and structure but still manage to constrain the possible worlds a cognitive agent can create in it A comprehensive theory of metaphor is proposed in this framework that explains how metaphors can create similarities and why such metaphors are an invaluable asset to cognition The framework is then applied to related issues of analogical reasoning induction and computational modeling of creative metaphors Scientific American Explores the Hidden Mind Scientific American,2002-05-15 Free when packaged with any Worth text This special collector s edition features articles that reveal the mysterious inner workings of mind and brain The Poetics of the Mind's Eye Christopher Collins,1991-10 The heart of this study consists of Collins s application of six cognitive modes of reading perception retrospection assertion introspection expectation and judgment In addition Collins considers the impact of the movement from oral to print literate culture The Historical and Scientific American Miscellany Robert Sears,1861 Brain and Perception Karl H. Pribram,2013-09-05 Presented as a series of lectures this important volume achieves four major goals 1 It integrates the results of the author s research as applied to pattern perception reviewing current brain research and showing how several lines of inquiry have been converging to produce a paradigm shift in our understanding of the neural basis of figural perception 2 It updates the holographic hypothesis of brain function in perception 3 It emphasizes the fact that both distributed holistic and localized structural processes characterize brain function 4 It portrays a neural systems analysis of brain organization in figural perception by computational models describing processing in terms of formalisms found useful in ordering data in 20th century physical and engineering sciences The lectures are divided into three parts a Prolegomenon outlining a theoretical framework for the presentation Part I dealing with the configural aspects of perception and Part II

presenting its cognitive aspects The appendices were developed in a collaborative effort by the author Kunio Yasue and Mari Jibu both of Notre Dame Seishin University of Okayama Japan Mind Children Hans Moravec,1988 A dizzying display of intellect and wild imaginings by Moravec a world class roboticist who has himself developed clever beasts Undeniably Moravec comes across as a highly knowledgeable and creative talent which is just what the field needs Kirkus Reviews

Vision and Mind Alva Noë,Evan Thompson,2002-10-25 The philosophy of perception is a microcosm of the metaphysics of mind Its central problems What is perception What is the nature of perceptual consciousness How can one fit an account of perceptual experience into a broader account of the nature of the mind and the world are at the heart of metaphysics Rather than try to cover all of the many strands in the philosophy of perception this book focuses on a particular orthodoxy about the nature of visual perception The central problem for visual science has been to explain how the brain bridges the gap between what is given to the visual system and what is actually experienced by the perceiver The orthodox view of perception is that it is a process whereby the brain or a dedicated subsystem of the brain builds up representations of relevant figures of the environment on the basis of information encoded by the sensory receptors Most adherents of the orthodox view also believe that for every conscious perceptual state of the subject there is a particular set of neurons whose activities are sufficient for the occurrence of that state Some of the essays in this book defend the orthodoxy most criticize it and some propose alternatives to it Many of the essays are classics Contributors G E M Anscombe Dana Ballard Daniel Dennett Fred Dretske Jerry Fodor H P Grice David Marr Maurice Merleau Ponty Zenon Pylyshyn Paul Snowdon and P F Strawson
