The Monkey Link A Pilgrimage Novel:

The Monkey Link Andrei Bitov, 1999-12 In the waning years of the Empire a poet traverses Russia from the Baltics to the capital to the shores of the Black Sea Along the way he discusses man's place in the scheme of things with among others a very sober scientist and a very drunken landscape painter He is harassed by the authorities spends time on a movie set and is an eyewitness to the August 1991 coup Full of talk philosophical speculation and dark humor this sweeping intricately structured novel challenges the form even as it presents a highly original view of the world and the former Soviet Union

Russian Literature, 1995-2002 Norman N. Shneidman, 2004-12-15 Writers have a difficult time making a living in contemporary Russia Market driven publishing companies have pushed serious domestic prose to the fringes of their output and few people have money to buy books The disintegration of the Soviet Union in 1991 led Russian society to become polarized between an increasingly prosperous minority and a very poor majority This divide is also mirrored within the writing community with some writers supporting conservative nationalist pro Soviet thinking and others liberal democratic pro Western thought N N Shneidman in the tradition of his previous volumes Soviet Literature in the 1970s Soviet Literature in the 1980s Russian Literature 1988 1994 investigates the Russian literary scene with special emphasis on the relationship between thematic substance and the artistic quality of recently published prose Despite the many challenges besetting it Shneidman argues convincingly that literary activity in Russia continues to be dynamic and vibrant The future development of Russian literature may depend on general economic political and social factors but a new generation of talented writers is fast moving past older forms of ideology and embracing new ways of thinking about Russia The International Fiction Review, 2007 The Oxford Handbook of the Russian Novel Julie A. Buckler, Justin Weir, 2025 The Oxford Handbook of the Russian Novel brings together top specialists in Russian literature to treat the Russian novel from the late 18th to the 21st century using a range of interpretive perspectives The Russian novel is a distinctive tradition by virtue of its formal eccentricities as well as the boldness with which these works approached the most complex philosophical political and moral questions This Handbook treats well known works and authors but also explores the much broader tradition of the Russian novel up to the present The essays in the Handbook provide cultural and historical perspectives on the Russian novel as well as showcasing emergent modes of analysis including postcolonialism ecocriticism and posthumanism Russian Prose Writers After World War II Christine Rydel, 2005 Whether the writers in this period described the war the Great Terror the gulag experience exile repression or simply everyday life in the city or in the country they generally turned to a major theme of Russian literature since the Revolution the fate of the individual human being in a mass state In the literature often the state won due to its power at other times individuals triumphed because of their moral convictions The same can be said of these writers Pushkin House Andrei Bitov, 1998 Probably the most interesting work to come out of Soviet literature since the Twenties London Review of Books Library Journal, 1999 The Art of Writing Badly Richard Chandler

Borden,1999 The art of writing badly is a phrase the Russian writer Valentin Kataev coined to describe the work that came out of the mauvist movement in Russia a style of writing that consciously challenged Soviet dogma In this book Richard Borden discusses the cultural and political context from which these authors emerged and the development of bad writing Beginning with a close examination of the work of Kataev the best known progenitor of bad writing Borden then broadens his study to include the mauvist creations of post Stalinist writers Aksenov Bitov Sokolov Limonov Evgeny Popov and Venedikt Erofeev Borden shows how these writers shared mauvistic characteristics reveal major philosophical and aesthetic tendencies in contemporary Russian culture bring to light facets of their writing that have never been discussed and enrich the readings of the particular texts under discussion John Banville Ingo Berensmeyer,2000 Index to Book Reviews in Religion ,1995
