The Mother And Narrative Politics In Modern China

Patricia Angela Sieber

The Mother And Narrative Politics In Modern China:

The Mother and Narrative Politics in Modern China Sally Taylor Lieberman, 1998 A modernist icon an object of forbidden desire a symbol of loss and suffering and an incorrigible survivor the mother takes all of these forms in Chinese literature from the 1920s and 1930s In an innovative analysis Sally Taylor Lieberman explores the meanings the maternal figure acquired at a particular place and time and then engages those meanings in a feminist rereading of the master narratives of modern Chinese intellectual and literary history Drawing on feminist literary criticism and the theories of Julia Kristeva Melanie Klein and Sigmund Freud Lieberman breaks traditional analytical boundaries as she explores the place of the mother in the ideological struggles through which the modern Chinese canon attained its present shape

Twentieth-century Chinese Women's Poetry: An Anthology Julia C. Lin, 2014-12-18 Chinese women's writing is rich and abundant although not well known in the West Despite the brutal wars and political upheavals that ravaged twentieth century China the ranks of women in the literary world increased dramatically This anthology introduces English language readers to a comprehensive selection of Chinese women poets from both the mainland and Taiwan It spans the early 1920s and the era of Republican China's literary renaissance through the end of the twentieth century The collection includes 245 poems by forty poets in elegant English translations as well as an extensive introduction that surveys the history of contemporary Chinese women's poetry Brief biographical head notes introduce each poet from Bin Xin China's preeminent woman poet in the early Republican period to Rongzi a leading poet of modern Taiwan The selections are startling moving and wide ranging in mood and tone Together they present an enticing palette of delightful elegant playful lyric and tragic poetry

Red is Not the Only Color Patricia Angela Sieber, 2001 As urban China has undergone a rapid transformation same sex relations have emerged as a significant if previously neglected touchstone for the exploration of the meaning of social change The short fiction in this volume highlights tensions between tradition and modernization family and state art and commerce love and sex

Marriage, Law and Gender in Revolutionary China Xiaoping Cong, 2016-08-22 Explores the social and cultural significance of Chinese communist legal practice in constructing marriage and gender relations in the turbulent period from 1940 to 1960

China on Screen Christopher J. Berry, Mary Ann Farquhar, 2006-04-04 In China on Screen Chris Berry and Mary Farquhar leaders in the field of Chinese film studies explore more than one hundred years of Chinese cinema and nation Providing new perspectives on key movements themes and filmmakers Berry and Farquhar analyze the films of a variety of directors and actors including Chen Kaige Zhang Yimou Hou Hsiao Hsien Bruce Lee Jackie Chan Maggie Cheung Gong Li Wong Kar wai and Ang Lee They argue for the abandonment of national cinema as an analytic tool and propose cinema and the national as a more productive framework With this approach they show how movies from China Hong Kong Taiwan and the Chinese diaspora construct and contest different ideas of Chinese nation as empire republic or ethnicity and complicated by gender class style transnationalism and more Among the issues and themes covered are the tension between operatic and realist modes male and female star images transnational production and circulation of Chinese films the image of the good foreigner all related to different ways of imagining nation Comprehensive and provocative China on Screen is a crucial work of film analysis Failure, Nationalism, and Literature Jing Tsu, 2005 How often do we think of cultural humiliation and failure as strengths Against prevailing views on what it means to enjoy power as individuals cultures or nations this provocative book looks at the making of cultural and national identities in modern China as building success on failure It reveals the exercise of sovereign power where we least expect it and shows how this is crucial to our understanding of a modern world of conflict violence passionate suffering and cultural difference Modern Chinese Literary and Cultural Studies in the Age of Theory Rey Chow, 2001-01-04 An attempt to describe the new boundaries of the field of Chinese studies Gendering Chinese Religion Jinhua Jia, Xiaofei Kang, Ping Yao, 2014-07-31 A gender critical consideration of women and religion in Chinese traditions from medieval to modern times Gendering Chinese Religion marks the emergence of a subfield on women gender and religion in China studies Ranging from the medieval period to the present day this volume departs from the conventional and often male centered categorization of Chinese religions into Confucianism Buddhism Daoism and popular religion It makes two compelling arguments First Chinese women have deployed specific religious ideas and rituals to empower themselves in various social contexts Second gendered perceptions and representations of Chinese religions have been indispensable to the historical and contemporary construction of social and political power The contributors use innovative ways of discovering and applying a rich variety of sources many previously ignored by scholars While each of the chapters in this interdisciplinary work represents a distinct perspective together they form a coherent dialogue about the historical importance intellectual possibilities and methodological protocols of this new subfield A Companion to Modern Chinese Literature Yingjin Zhang, 2015-08-13 This wide ranging Companion provides a vital overview of modern Chinese literature in different geopolitical areas from the 1840s to now It reviews major accomplishments of Chinese literary scholarship published in Chinese and English and brings attention to previously neglected important areas Offers the most thorough and concise coverage of modern Chinese literature to date drawing attention to previously neglected areas such as late Qing Sinophone and ethnic minority literature Several chapters explore literature in relation to Sinophone geopolitics regional culture urban culture visual culture print media and new media The introduction and two chapters furnish overviews of the institutional development of modern Chinese literature in Chinese and English scholarship since the mid twentieth century Contributions from leading literary scholars in mainland China and Hong Kong add their voices to international scholarship Building a New China in Cinema Laikwan Pang, 2002-05-01 Building a New China in Cinema introduces English readers for the first time to one of the most exciting left wing cinema traditions in the world This unique book explores the history ideology and aesthetics of China's left wing cinema movement a quixotic film culture that was as political as commercial as militant as sensationalist Originating in the 1930s it marked the first systematic intellectual involvement in Chinese cinema In this era of turmoil and idealism the movement's films were characterized by fantasies of heroism intertwined with the inescapable spell of impotency thus exposing the contradictions of the filmmakers underlying ideology as their political and artistic agendas alternately fought against or catered to the taste and viewing habits of a popular audience Political cinema became a commercially successful industry resulting in a film culture that has never been replicated Drawing on detailed archival research Pang demonstrates that this cinema movement was a product of the era's social economic and political discourses The author offers a close analysis of many rarely seen films richly illustrated with over eighty stills collected from the Beijing Film Archive With its original conceptual approach and rich use of primary sources this book will be of interest not only to scholars and fans of Chinese cinema but to those who study the relationship between cinema and modernity
