Narrative Hospitality in Late Victorian Fiction Rachel Hollander, 2013 Bringing together poststructuralist ethical theory with late Victorian debates about the morality of literature this book reconsiders the ways in which novels engender an ethical orientation or response in their readers explaining how the intersections of nation family and form in the late realist English novel produce a new ethics of hospitality Hollander reads texts that both portray and enact a unique ethical orientation of welcoming the other a narrative hospitality that combines the Victorians commitment to engaging with the real world with a more modern awareness of difference and the limits of knowledge While classic nineteenth century realism rests on a sympathy based model of moral relations novels by authors such as George Eliot Thomas Hardy and Olive Schreiner present instead an ethical recognition of the distance between self and other Opening themselves to the other in their very structure and narrative form the visited texts both represent and theorize the ethics of hospitality anticipating twentieth century philosophy s recognition of the limits of sympathy As colonial conflicts nationalist anxiety and the intensification of the woman question became dominant cultural concerns in the 1870s and 80s the problem of self and other known and unknown began to saturate and define the representation of home in the English novel This book argues that in the wake of an erosion of confidence in the ability to understand that which is unlike the self a moral code founded on sympathy gave way to an ethics of hospitality in which the concept of home shifts to acknowledge the permeability and vulnerability of not only domestic but also national spaces Concluding with Virginia Woolf's reexamination of the novel s potential to educate the reader in negotiating relations of alterity in a more fully modernist moment Hollanders suggest that the late Victorian novel embodies a unique and previously unrecognized ethical mode between Victorian realism and a post World War I ethics of modernist form Ethics in Psychology and the Mental Health Professions Gerald P. Koocher, Patricia Keith-Spiegel, 2016 The completely updated fourth edition of Ethics in Psychology and the Mental Health Professions considers many of the ethical questions and dilemmas that mental health professionals encounter in their everyday practice research and teaching Apprentice Steve Chalke, 2009-08-30 The quest for meaning and purpose dwells within all of us Jesus insisted that its fulfillment lay in a relationship with him But what does that relationship look like really Apprentice calls spiritual pilgrims both Christians and non Christians to exchange the shallow diversions of secular and religious culture for the pursuit of our true desires In a book of refreshing honesty great heart and rich creativity Steve Chalke guides us into an apprenticeship with the master teacher Jesus Embarking on a relational journey that engages us on every level we walk with Jesus in an organic whole life learning experience exploring ten areas foundational to the meaning and depth we crave Apprentice encourages us to ask our most probing questions embrace our doubts and learn why we are driven to belong Combining story and parable with thoughtful commentary we discover the ancient art and discipline of apprenticeship living lives stamped with the character presence and impact of Jesus The Small Town Preacher's Fake Marriage Lucy McConnell, 2020-06-15 He has to get married Fast But will an ad in the paper really find him a bride Seth doesn t need a love match What he needs is a partner someone who will help him watch over a small flock Evie is tired of all the dating games and her heart is sore When she sees the ad for a wife she's prompted to apply Seth is everything she's always wanted and just out of reach For these two getting married is the easy part It's keeping it together that will undo them You'll love this small town romance with a mail order bride twist Start reading today

Takeshita,Ronald Freedman,2016-04-19 The experimental family planning program begun in 1963 in Taichung the provincial capital of Taiwan was the largest intensive program of its kind ever to be carried out for a sizable concentrated population Its use of systematic observation and measurements was also unique In evaluating the program and the data gathered the authors seek to establish the extent to which the decline in Taiwan s fertility level resulted from the program rather than from the changes already underway in the society at that time Finally two vital questions occupy them What has been learned in Taiwan and how much of this can be applied to other developing countries with rapid population growth Originally published in 1969 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
