

No More Excuses No Procrastination

Procrastination is the act of delaying or putting off tasks until the last minute, or past their deadline.

3 HACKS ON HOW TO STOP PROCRASTINATING

TRICK YOUR BRAIN INTO TAKING ACTION

Entrepreneur Mel Robbins discovered a hack when she created her famous 5-Second Rule. She encourages her followers to countdown to action after realizing that the simple act of saying (out loud) "5 - 4 - 3 - 2 - 1!" can spur you into action where nothing else will – not all the reasoning and therapy in the world.

THE TWO-MINUTE RULE

Don't let small tasks bog you down. For every to-do that lands in your inbox, immediately assess the time you expect it to take. If it's less than 2 minutes, do it right now.

ONE TASK AT A TIME

Being overwhelmed is another common cause of procrastination. Breaking a big project or goal into smaller pieces makes it easier to tackle – and psychologically far less daunting on how to stop procrastinating.

Chapter 1 Sample What s Procrastination It is the action of delaying work that needs to be accomplished as soon as possible It can also be referred to as the practice of diverting attention to things that are less important than the work at hand It is natural that humans find it difficult to concentrate on a relevant matter that needs their attendance It could be attributed to either work pressure or merely a lousy attention span Sometimes it is also due to a mere habit of delaying things until they become super urgent In most cases there is a deadline that needs to be met People tend to delay matters until the last minute before that said deadline The above definition of procrastination mentions the word work This work could be from any area of your life Be it picking up your daughter from her school or attending an important meeting we have a habit of putting off things off until the deadlines start ringing bells

Stages of Procrastination Trivializing The first stage of procrastination is trivializing When we are under stress and looking for replacements we naturally tend to convince ourselves that the vital matter at hand is of little or no importance We soothe our minds and tell ourselves that we need not worry We somehow persuade ourselves that the matter is not worth stressing over and our mental resources are better off being spent elsewhere This is called trivializing

Distraction After having successfully reduced the importance of the super important work we then look for substitutes Procrastination is never successful without alternatives being up for grabs We search for easy replacements for the work we were supposed to be doing Such replacements could range from a television series binge watching session to hanging out with a group of friends
