Home and Migrant Identity in Dialogical Life Stories of Moroccan and Turkish Dutch Femke Stock, 2017-09-04

In Home and Migrant Identity in Dialogical Life Stories of Moroccan and Turkish Dutch Femke J Stock explores the multivoiced life stories of Dutch adults of Moroccan and Turkish descent. Focusing on stories about home, this book deals with social relationships and being oneself in countries and houses, discrimination and Islamophobia, family and religion, and how these feature in personal narratives. Through microanalysis of case study material using Dialogical Self Theory, this book formulates and substantiates clear insights into descendants of migrants' roots and routes, their sense of home, and their ambivalent processes of disidentification and belonging. Showing how religion plays a relatively marginal role in personal narratives, it provides an antidote to the widespread tendency to address and study Muslims almost exclusively in terms of their religious identity. Fifty-two Sunday stories for boys and girls, ed. by A.H. The kindergarten student in her family recently settled from Mexico wiggled a loose tooth that she hoped would dislodge soon so she could collect a few coins and not feel left out again at her school's next bake sale. Lieutenant Governor E Lee Francis decades earlier had his own wish. He wanted a restraining order against Governor David Cargo who supposedly was making Francis fear for his safety in the state Capitol. New Mexico Stories is full of gems such as these. They're stories about life not just in New Mexico but beyond. They're stories about the human condition. They're warm, funny, revealing, and at times unsettling. Together they constitute a fascinating segment of New Mexico history. David Roybal, in daily extraordinary rounds over fifty years, positioned himself to absorb it all. Chivalric Stories as Children's Literature Velma Bourgeois Richmond, 2014-09-24

Knights and ladies, giants and dragons, tournaments, battles, quests, and crusades are commonplace in stories for children. This book examines how late Victorians and Edwardians retold medieval narratives of chivalry, epics, romances, sagas, legends, and ballads. Stories of Beowulf, Arthur, Gawain, St George, Roland, Robin Hood, and many more thrilled and instructed children and encouraged adult reading. Lavish volumes and schoolbooks of the era featured illustrated texts, many by major artists. Children's books, an essential part of Edwardian publishing, were disseminated throughout the English-speaking world. Many are being reprinted today.
