Stories From The Country Of Lost Borders:

Stories from the Country of Lost Borders Mary Austin, 1987 Mary Austin's The Land of Little Rain 1903 and Lost Borders 1909 both set in the California desert make intimate connections between animals people and the land they inhabit For Austin the two indispensable conditions of her fiction were that the region must enter the story as another character as the instigator of plot and that the story must reflect the essential qualities of the land In The Land of Little Rain Austin's attention to natural detail allows her to write prose that is geologically biologically and botanically accurate at the same time that it offers metaphorical insight into human emotional and spiritual experience In Lost Borders Austin focuses on both white and Indian women's experiences in the desert looks for the sources of their deprivation and finds them in the ways life betrays them usually in the guise of men She offers several portraits of strong women characters but ultimately identifies herself with the desert which she personifies as a woman

Through the Window, Out the Door Janis P. Stout, 2020-11-10 This informative and provocative study focuses on the centrality of departure in the texts of five major American women novelists An important moment in many novels and poems by American women writers occurs when a central character looks out a window or walks out the door of a house These acts of departure serve to convey such values as the rejection of constraining social patterns the search for individual fulfillment and the entry into the political Janis Stout examines such moments and related patterns of venture and travel in the fiction of five major American novelists of the 20th century Mary Austin Willa Cather Anne Tyler Toni Morrison and Joan Didion Stout views these five writers within a spectrum of narrative engagements with issues of home and departure a spectrum anchored at one end by Sarah Orne Jewett and at the other by Marilynne Robinson whose Housekeeping posits a vision of female transience Through the Window Out the Door ranges over an expansive territory Moving between texts as well as between texts and contexts Stout shows how women writers have envisioned the walls of physical and social structures including genres as permeable boundaries drawing on both a rhetoric of liberation and a rhetoric of domesticity to construct narrative arguments for women's right to move freely between the two Stout concludes with a personal essay on the dilemmas of domesticity and the ambivalence of departure

Mary Austin's Regionalism Heike Schaefer, 2004 Mary Austin's decades old regionalist work still has the power to fascinate and move a wide audience of contemporary readers Under the Sign of Nature Explorations in Ecocriticism

One-smoke Stories Mary Austin, 2003 Retold in the evocative language of a true enthusiast of the Southwest One Smoke Stories is Mary Austin's compilation of tales from Native American Spanish colonial mestizo and European American peoples of the Southwest Through folktales animal tales and other genres of popular lore Austin creates a primer of early twentieth century Southwestern cultures Many stories offer political critiques of intercultural conflicts such as the homesteader's conquest of nature the assimilation policies of Christian missionaries and the abuses of colonial government Others celebrate the multicultural Southwest by representing the spirituality humor love loyalty and sense of community among the Southwest

s diverse peoples Originally published in 1934 One Smoke Stories is one of several early twentieth century works like Charles W Chesnutt s The Conjure Woman Mourning Dove s Cogewea the Half Blood and Zora Neale Hurston s Their Eyes Were Watching God that bridged the oral and literary realms by intertwining folklore and fiction Introduced by Noreen Groover Lape this new edition of One Smoke Stories raises timely questions about the permeability of cultural borders Book jacket

American Women Poets of the Nineteenth Century Cheryl Walker,1992 This publication marks the first time in a hundred years that a wide range of nineteenth century American women s poetry has been accessible to the general public in a single volume Included are the humorous parodies of Phoebe Cary and Mary Weston Fordham and the stirring abolitionist poems of Lydia Sigourney Frances Harper Maria Lowell and Rose Terry Cooke Included too are haunting reflections on madness drug use and suicide of women whose lives as Cheryl Walker explains were often as melodramatic as the poems they composed and published In addition to works by more than two dozen poets the anthology includes ample headnotes about each author s life and a brief critical evaluation of her work Walker s introduction to the volume provides valuable contextual material to help readers understand the cultural background economic necessities literary conventions and personal dynamics that governed women s poetic production in the nineteenth century Moods Louisa May Alcott,1991

Sylvia Yule marries one of her brother s two best friends only to discover she has chosen the wrong man Canons and Contexts Paul Lauter,1991-03-28 This collection of essays places issues central to literary study particularly the question of the canon in the context of institutional practices in American colleges and universities Lauter addresses such crucial concerns as what students should read and study how standards of quality are defined and changed the limits of theoretical discourse and the ways race gender and class shape not only teaching curricula and research priorities but collegiate personnel actions as well The book examines critically the variety of recent proposals for reforming higher education and it calls into question many practices like employing large numbers of part timers now popular with college managers Offering concrete examples of a comparative method for teaching literary texts and specific instances about integrating curricula Canons and Contexts proposes realistic ideas for creating varied spirited and democratic classrooms and colleges The

Hidden Hand, Or, Capitola the Madcap Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth,1988 E D E N Southworth was one of the most popular and prolific writers of the nineteenth century and her Capitola Black or Black Cap a cross dressing adventure seeking girl woman was so well loved that the book was serialized three times between 1859 and 1888 and was dramatized in forty different versions There are bandits true loves evil men long lost mothers and sweet women friends in Capitola s future not to mention thunder storms kidnap attempts and duels The pace is fast the action wonderfully unbelievable This is escape literature at its nineteenth century best with a woman at its center who makes you feel strong daring and reckless A New Home, Who'll Follow? Or, Glimpses of Western Life Caroline Matilda Kirkland,1990 A

New Home is a vivid contribution to a new kind of narrative developed during the antebellum period ethnographic fiction

Kirkland highlights the importance and the drama of local practices and everyday life in Montacute She traces the way two groups of settlers slowly adjust to each other the old hands and the newcomers from the East Dramatizing differences of class and culture she also shows how the groups finally form a genuine community and a new diverse culture Kirkland also gives ethnographic fiction an original twist she satirizes the provincialism and the rigidity of both groups of settlers Publisher s description from paperback back cover
