An Almanack for the Year of Our Lord ... Joseph Whitaker, 1908 Weather Warnings for Watchers (Illustrations)
The Clerk ,2014-12-07 The late Admiral Fitzroy entertained the opinion that the various phenomena which go to form what we call weather are measurable at any place and that having these measurements at various places over a given area such as the British Isles we ought to be able to foresee the peculiar results as regards the direction and force of air currents which have their distinctive weather characteristics in relation to temperature rainfall and electrical manifestations A conviction of the soundness of this opinion has induced the writer to make the present compilation in the hope that many who have hitherto avoided the subject of meteorology and the weather may find interesting matter where before all seemed dull and technical Any attempt at rigid mathematical accuracy is disclaimed at the outset the leading principles involved in weather forecasting and storm prevision will however be stated in a sufficiently definite manner to divest the subject of the mystery in which it has hitherto seemed to be enshrined and thus enable the unscientific reader to become weather wise and casual observers to note weather phenomena with some degree of method and precision On page 4 will be found a list of works which have proved useful aids in making the present compilation The writer desires to acknowledge his indebtedness to the various authors and publishers and especially to Mr Strachan for permission to quote from his able pamphlet on Weather Forecasts and Storm Prevision and to reproduce the valuable table on page 37 for Calculating Heights of Mountains from the fourth edition of his handy Pocket Meteorological Register The publication of Weather Reports in the daily journals must have convinced the most indifferent that much greater importance is now attached to weather phenomena than formerly and this conviction will be deepened when it is remembered that a Parliamentary grant of 10 000 is annually expended in support of the Meteorological Office and its seven fully organized observatories in this country while America expends no less a sum than 80 000 annually in the pursuit of weather wisdom and the leading nations of Europe have also established meteorological observatories in suitable localities The balloon ascents of Messrs Glaisher and Coxwell attracted much attention to the instruments used in estimating atmospheric phenomena and awakened a desire to know something of the functions of a barometer thermometer hygrometer c and especially of the classification of those important weather warners clouds These subjects will be found duly noted in their order and every phenomenon being traced to its source Solar Radiation it is hoped that these pages may prove generally acceptable and be deemed not altogether unworthy of The Clerk of the Weather
