Subjectivity Nick Mansfield, 2020-07-25 What am I referring to when I say I This little word is so easy to use in daily life yet it has become the focus of intense theoretical debate Where does my sense of self come from Does it arise spontaneously or is it created by the media or society Do I really know myself This concern with the self with our subjectivity is now our main point of reference in Western societies How has it come to be so important What are the different ways in which we can approach subjectivity Nick Mansfield explores how our understanding of our subjectivity has developed over the past century He looks at the work of key modern and postmodern theorists including Freud Foucault Nietzsche Lacan Kristeva Deleuze and Guattari and he shows how subjectivity is central to debates in contemporary culture including gender sexuality ethnicity postmodernism and technology I am who No topic is more crucial to contemporary cultural theory than subjectivity and Nick Mansfield has written what has long been lacking a lucid smart introduction to work in the field Professor Simon During University of Melbourne Effortlessly and with humour passion and panache Mansfield offers the reader a telling trenchantly articulated account of the complex enigma of the self without resorting to reductively simple critical clichés This book in its graceful movements between disciplines ideas and areas of interest deserves to become a benchmark for all such student introductions for some time to come Julian Wolfreys University of Florida Nick Mansfield is Senior Lecturer in the Department of Critical and Cultural Studies at Macquarie University He is co author of Cultural Studies and the New Humanities Oxford 1997 and author of Masochism The art of power Praeger 1997

Humanities Oxford 1997 and author of Masochism The art of power Praeger 1997 Sarah Coakley and the Future of Systematic Theology Janice McRandal, 2016-02-01 Sarah Coakley is one of the most exciting and creative figures in contemporary theology Her far reaching systematic vision of the Christian faith has integrated insights from systematic theology gender studies sociology patristics analytic philosophy of religion and evolutionary biology This integrated vision coheres around the mystical and contemplative core of Christian experience In her challenging revisionary work on themes such as gender sacrifice desire and the doctrine of the Trinity Coakley reconnects theological reflection with its contemplative roots and pushes toward a new approach to systematic theological reflection In Sarah Coakley and the Future of Systematic Theology scholars explore Coakley s multifaceted contribution to contemporary theology and consider the ways through which her work sets a new standard for systematic reflection on the Christian faith This volume brings together around Coakley s work a gathering of established and emerging scholars and asks critical questions of Coakley s work as we await three further volumes of her systematic theology Developing Minds Elise Klein, 2016-10-04 Development policy makers and practitioners are becoming increasingly sophisticated in their ability to target development interventions and the psychological domain is now a specific frontier of their interventional focus This landmark study considers the problematic relationship between development and psychology tracing the deployment of psychological knowledge in the production reproduction of power relations within the context of neoliberal development policy and intervention It examines knowledge production and implementation by actors of development policy such as the World Bank and the neo colonial state and ends by examining the proposition of a critical psychology for more emancipatory forms of development The role of psychology in development studies remains a relatively unexplored area with limited scholarship available This important book aims to fill that gap by using critical psychology perspectives to explore the focus of the psychological domain of agency in development interventions It will be essential reading for students researchers and policy makers from fields including critical psychology social psychology development studies and anthropology A Comparative Guide to Sartrean and Deleuzian Selves in Modernist and Post-Modernist Fiction Onur Ekler, 2021-07-12 This book provides insights into the maze of know thyself through a carefully detailed comparative study of the Sartrean no self and the Deleuzian rhizomic self It is informative argumentative and rich in literary context and mainly focuses on the shift in the notion of self from Sartre s elegiac suicidal and nihilistic tone seen pervasively in modernist fiction to the celebratory Deleuzian self in postmodernist fiction To trace this shift the book presents a comparative analysis of selected novels showing that authors like Bellow and Atwood have adopted a more positive attitude toward the self similar to the Deleuzian rhizomic self while authors like Hedayat and Beckett have more reductionist decadent nihilistic views on the self like the Sartrean no self Moreover as argued in the cases of the protagonists in the selected novels this book further asserts that the Deleuzian rhizomic self might be seen as a possible alternative to help one survive in times of crisis in contrast to the nihilistic Sartrean no self Identity Economics

Meral Uzunöz Altan,Meltem İnce Yenilmez,Oğuzhan Altınkoz,Sinem Bağçe,2024-07-08 Critics contend that identity economics overemphasizes social identities as drivers of economic activity potentially obscuring other elements including personal preferences incentives and market pressures Identity related notions are challenging to measure and quantify meaningfully and rigorously which is one of the most common criticisms Identity economics has long been debated by economic scientists and practitioners but it is still considered to be in its infancy which also draws attention to the absence of a clear consensus and solid empirical support This book fills that gap by providing an in depth analysis of the main claims made in favour of identity economics It explores the reliability of identity based explanations the difficulties with measurement and quantification concerns about overgeneralization and essentialism the function of economic institutions policy implications a lack of agreement and empirical evidence and considerations of intersectionality and multidimensionality The book considers three interrelated aims Firstly it familiarizes readers with the concept of Identity Economics Secondly and essentially it persuades a larger audience of the relevance and creativity of this sector and thirdly it advocates for the applicability of the approach to the field of knowledge The focus of the examination centres around these three objectives Few would argue that identity impacts our decisions but given that solid theory is predicated on good abstraction the real question is whether we lose anything by excluding identity from the theory The book skilfully weaves together the literature from several disciplines including regional gender labour social areas of studies thus academics students and researchers in these fields will find the individual contributions useful for their respective areas of study
