

MWANGI RUHENI is a renowned Kenyan novelist of immense diversity who was educated at Makerere University, Uganda, and in Britain. He has written widely especially on social and family relationships. His other works published by E.A.E.P. include Love Root and The Mystery Smugglers (Spear Books), and The Future Leaders (Peak Library).

Jane Njeri, the beautiful daughter of an ageing upcountry clergyman, has suffered a narrow, strict Christian upbringing. She comes to Nairobi after completing school and is introduced to the world of love, crime and money. This swift moving story of her growth and re-education is entertaining and is told with skill and gusto. From her naive idealism emerges a more convincing view of life upon which her new life as a teacher in the countryside is to be established.

'In this witty and engrossing book, Mr. Ruheni displays the true novelist's gift: he does not argue, he shows.'

– The Sunday Times

'Like Defoe, then, Ruheni writes of a people experiencing the decisive personal reverberations that accompany rapid social change - in Kenya, specifically, political independence and the centripetal pull of the large city.'

The Ministers Daughter Format Audio:

De-stereotyping Indian Body and Desire Kaustav Chakraborty, 2014-03-17 Stereotypes result in deceptive generalizations about groups and are held in a manner that renders them as derogatory. As such, this volume advocates an active goal oriented effort in order to reduce prejudice through contact. Deconstructing the motivated otherizing of the marginalized, the book offers an alternative reading of the representations of Indian body and desire in both literature and media that are often politically inscribed as abnormal and unnatural due to their non conformity. Poststructural and postcolonial theories have argued that the body is a cultural construct rather than a natural entity. This argument is based on the assumption that there is no unalloyed body with any singular signification but there are bodies onto which a multiplicity of meanings are inscribed and enforced. The responsibility of this inscription lies with the agencies that hold power in a culture and the infused meanings will consequently facilitate the ideologies of such agencies. In other words, the bodies of a certain culture are the embodiment of the ideas of those who hold power in that culture. The corporality of the body in this sense is a cultural site in which the subtle political ideologies are deftly imposed and accordingly correct and sanctioned desire is expected to germinate. Consequently, it may be argued that apparently unified or non contradictory bodies of normal desire should be suspected of having subtle hegemonic mechanisms in their formation. As a corollary to this, an investigation into such abnormal bodies with unnatural desires may have the effect of subverting such a power structure. Today's world believes in de stereotyped thinking and stereotyped living. Language has already been declared as a means more of camouflage than of revelation. As a result, there is a need to deconstruct the so called radical representations and expose the undercurrent of the norm. Otherization through stereotyping agencies and ideologies motivates racist, sexist and other de humanizing positions and perspectives. This book, which is the outcome of the UGC sponsored National Seminar organised by the Department of English at Southfield College Darjeeling, is an endeavour to demystify the politics behind stereotyping and to advocate the justification of de stereotyping. As such, it represents a significant contribution to numerous disciplines including subaltern studies, women and gender studies, queer studies and minority discourse. Elijah the Fiery Prophet Chris Oyakhilome, 2014-11-13 It was the darkest era in Israel's history under the rule of King Ahab and his evil wife Jezebel, the Phoenician princess, daughter of the priest of Tyre, Ethbaal, when Elijah the prophet of the living God came into the scene. He was a burning and a shining light in his generation. A man with fire in his bones, a man sent from God, Elijah was a man full of power and fiery passion for God, as such God used him to perform great miracles that marveled the human mind. This story of Elijah, The fiery Prophet, will take you on a roller coaster ride with this great prophet of God as he raises the dead, calls fire from heaven, contend with the evil priest of Baal and rides on a fiery chariot to heaven.
