Office of Education,Isaac Edwards Clarke,1892 The Business of Watercolour Simon Fenwick,Greg Smith,2018-12-17 First published in 1997 this volume will revolutionise the study of watercolour painting in Britain The Royal Watercolour Society archive constitutes a major academic resource covering two hundred years of the history of watercolour painting in Britain The rediscovery in 1980 of the Jenkins Papers the early records of the Society was a major find for the history of British art The archives are substantial and remarkably comprehensive Minutes of annual general meetings Council and committees are all intact extraordinarily the Society's catalogues for its own exhibitions have also survived with details of who bought the pictures and for how much It contains biographical information on several hundred artists who practised throughout the United Kingdom from the end of the eighteenth century to the present day Prepared by the archivist to the RWS Simon Fenwick this is not just a work of reference but an absorbing book to dip into again and again The Society of Painters in Water Colours as it was then titled was founded in 1804 to promote the interests of painters using watercolour and to provide a platform for members to sell their work As such its archives provide an excellent insight into the evolving debate on the status of the artists and their medium and an authoritative account of the way in which watercolour paintings were sold distributed and acquired The substantial introduction by Greg Smith surveys some of the purposes and practices of watercolour from 1750 to the present day and highlights key issues many yet to be examined relating to the study of watercolour His survey is arranged around a number of topics including the notion of watercolour as a British art collecting and display book illustration architectural drawing map making and topography antiquarian studies decorative arts printmaking portrait miniatures and drawings amateur practices and the changing status of the sketch

Art and Industry: (1898) Industrial and technical training in schools of technology and in U.S. land grant colleges United States. Office of Education,Isaac Edwards Clarke,1898 The Beaver Hall Group and Its Legacy Evelyn Walters,2017-02-11 An exploration into Montreal's Beaver Hall Group and its legacy of women painters who now rank among Canada's most outstanding artists Today it is difficult to imagine that the art of Montreal's Beaver Hall Group was once shocking As these Modernists struggled against academic art critics such as Samuel Morgan Powell ranted rough meaningless blatant plastering and massing of unpleasant colours in weird landscapes and likened their paintings to the cacophonous riot of metallic yowlings of jazz that was invading the city Moreover unlike their contemporaries the Group of Seven the Beaver Hall Group dared to break with tradition and accept women members The result was a legacy of some of the finest women painters Canada has so far produced In 2005 Evelyn Walters gave them deserved attention in her acclaimed book The Women of Beaver Hall Canadian Modernist Painters Now a follow up The Beaver Hall Group and Its Legacy delves into the engrossing life stories of the twenty five artists who belonged to the Beaver Hall Group and the Women of Beaver Hall Over seventy five images gleaned from museums and private collections highlight the work of these pioneering artists who changed the course of Canadian art Written for student and scholar alike The Beaver Hall Group and Its Legacy is a must for every art lover s library endowed institutions United States. Office of Education,1897 Art Schools and Place Silvie Jacobi,2020-06-15 Art education has a definite impact on artists sense of place and their spatial relations Exploring where and why artists choose to locate is the first step in describing an art scene ethnographically This research considers coming to and going through art school as a crucial inter subjective learning environment Artists learn not just to engage with place through spatial and relational practices but gain a sense of mobility and transnational flows in a globalized art world This book is the first time the art school has been studied this way in the nascent field of art geography blending the tool kits of human geography and urban studies This is timely against the backdrop of worldwide university closures of physical space and cost intensive fine art courses as a triumph of managerialism and business case over education This volume helps highlight how investment in this form of education has an important capacity for nurturing art scenes and feeding into the community at large
