Skilled Labourer:

Labour in the Munitions Industries Peggy Inman, 1957 Labour History and the Labour Movement in Britain Sidney Pollard, 2024-10-28 This volume focuses on labour history in Britain but brings in comparative material on the Continent in particular inter war Germany Special attention is given to wages and living and working conditions in the 19th century to Robert Owen and Co operation and to the modern trade union movement and its attempts to keep up the interests of its members in the fluctuating conditions of the late 19th and earlier 20th centuries The author defends the notion that wage earners have common interests and frequently share common experiences and that their organisations have both a strictly economic aspect trade unions and a wider political dimension The profound changes which the labour organisations underwent in the 19th and 20th centuries are a major concern of these essays

The Labouring Classes in Early Industrial England, 1750-1850 John Rule, 2014-01-21 This is the most comprehensive and up to date synthesis of current research on the social conditions experiences and reactions of working people during the period 1750 1850

Labour Relations in the Motor Industry H. A. Turner, Garfield Clack, Geoffrey Roberts, 2017-07-06 This book originally published in 1967 takes the automobile industry experience as a basis for a wider view of industrial relations trends and developments of the 1950s and 60s The study also analyses the emergence of new institutions and systems of labour management relationships It contains chapters on the effects of automation and technical change on the impact of fluctuations in the market for cars and on wage trends There are detailed surveys of some of the biggest post war disputes and especially of trade union organization the shop steward system the experience of individual firms such as Austin Ford and Fiat There is also a comparative survey of labour relationships in other major car manufacturing countries such as the USA Germany and Japan

Skilled Labour and Professionalism in Ancient Greece and Rome Edmund Stewart, Edward Harris, David Lewis, 2020-09-03 This book is a history of ancient Greek and Roman professionals doctors seers sculptors teachers musicians actors athletes and soldiers These individuals were specialist workers deemed to possess rare skills for which they had undergone a period of training They operated in a competitive labour market in which proven expertise was a key commodity Success in the highest regarded professions was often rewarded with a significant income and social status Rivalries between competing practitioners could be fierce Yet on other occasions skilled workers co operated in developing associations that were intended to facilitate and promote the work of professionals The oldest collegial code of conduct the Hippocratic Oath a version of which is still taken by medical professionals today was similarly the creation of a prominent ancient medical school This collection of articles reveals the crucial role of occupation and skill in determining the identity and status of workers in antiquity
