Greene,Martin A. Klein,2013-05-13 Though the history of slavery is a central topic for African Atlantic world and world history most of the sources presenting research in this area are European in origin To cast light on African perspectives and on the point of view of enslaved men and women this group of top Africanist scholars has examined both conventional historical sources such as European travel accounts colonial documents court cases and missionary records and less explored sources of information such as folklore oral traditions songs and proverbs life histories collected by missionaries and colonial officials correspondence in Arabic and consular and admiralty interviews with runaway slaves Each source has a short introduction highlighting its significance and orienting the reader This first of two volumes provides students and scholars with a trove of African sources for studying African slavery and the slave trade     Black Morocco Chouki El Hamel,2014-02-27 Black Morocco A History of Slavery Race and Islam chronicles the experiences identity and achievements of enslaved black people in Morocco from the sixteenth century to the beginning of the twentieth century Chouki El Hamel argues that we cannot rely solely on Islamic ideology as the key to explain social relations and particularly the history of black slavery in the Muslim world for this viewpoint yields an inaccurate historical record of the people institutions and social practices of slavery in Northwest Africa El Hamel focuses on black Moroccans collective experience beginning with their enslavement to serve as the loyal army of the Sultan Isma il By the time the Sultan died in 1727 they had become a political force making and unmaking rulers well into the nineteenth century The emphasis on the political history of the black army is augmented by a close examination of the continuity of black Moroccan identity through the musical and cultural practices of the Gnawa     A Fistful of Shells Toby Green,2019-03-21 By the time the Scramble for Africa among European colonial powers began in the late nineteenth century Africa had already been globally connected for centuries Its gold had fueled the economies of Europe and the Islamic world for nearly a millennium and the sophisticated kingdoms spanning its west coast had traded with Europeans since the fifteenth century Until at least 1650 this was a trade of equals using a variety of currencies most importantly cowrie shells imported from the Maldives and nzimbu shells imported from Brazil But as the slave trade grew African kingdoms began to lose prominence in the growing global economy We have been living with the effects of this shift ever since With A Fistful of Shells Toby Green transforms our view of West and West Central Africa by reconstructing the world of these kingdoms which revolved around trade diplomacy complex religious beliefs and the production of art Green shows how the slave trade led to economic disparities that caused African kingdoms to lose relative political and economic power The concentration of money in the hands of Atlantic elites in and outside these kingdoms brought about a revolutionary nineteenth century in Africa parallel to the upheavals then taking place in Europe and America Yet political fragmentation following the fall of African aristocracies produced radically different results as European colonization took hold Drawing not just on written histories but on archival research in nine countries art oral history archaeology and letters Green lays bare the transformations that have shaped world politics and the global economy since the fifteenth century and paints a new and masterful portrait of West Africa past and present
