Microskin Grafting for Vitiligo Devendra K. Gupta, 2009-09-29 This book has been written to assist not only postgraduate students but also interested dermatologists general practitioners and surgeons During the last two decades various surgical therapies have been used in the treatment of stable refractory vitiligo but none of them became very popular because of their intrinsic drawbacks and thus could not be adopted as a standard procedure There has always been a need for a technique that gives best results without complications The commonly used surgical procedures for the treatment of vitiligo have been narrated in short and their characteristic drawbacks have been pointed out The cellular graft technique is costly requires a good laboratory and infrastructure and except for being able to cover a wider vitiliginous area the ultimate results are no better than tissue grafting technique I used the small skin particles prepared from ultra thin or thin split thickness skin graft the so called microskin graft in the treatment of vitiligo effectively with good expansion ratio i.e. small donor skin to treat big vitiliginous area This procedure covers the benefit of cellular and tissue graft but without their inherent drawbacks The microskin graft technique has been illustrated with minimum necessary text to explain the steps This technique is very simple to learn and execute It is extremely cost effective and can treat very large area up to 1500 cm in an operative session
