Human Rights in Youth Sport Paulo David, 2004-11-10 Does competitive sport respect children s human rights Is intensive training child labour Is competitive stress a form of child abuse The human rights of children have been recognized in the 1989 UN Convention on the Rights of the Child and ratified by 192 countries Paulo David s work makes it clear however that too often competitive sport fails to recognize the value of respect for international child rights norms and standards Human Rights in Youth Sport offers critical analysis of some very real problems within youth sport and argues that the future development of sport depends on the creation of a child centred sport system Areas of particular concern include issues of over training physical emotional and sexual abuse doping and medical ethics education child labour accountability of governments sports federations coaches and parents The text will be essential reading for anybody with an interest in the ethics of sport youth sport coaching and sports development Handbook of Research on Applied Intelligence for Health and Clinical Informatics Thakare, Anuradha Dheeraj, Wagh, Sanjeev J., Bhende, Manisha Sunil, Anter, Ahmed M., Gao, Xiao-Zhi, 2021-10-22 Currently informatics within the field of public health is a developing and growing industry Clinical informatics are used in direct patient care by supplying medical practitioners with information that can be used to develop a care plan Intelligent applications in clinical informatics facilitates with the technology based solutions to analyze data or medical images and help clinicians to retrieve that information Decision models aid with making complex decisions especially in uncertain situations The Handbook of Research on Applied Intelligence for Health and Clinical Informatics is a comprehensive reference book that focuses on the study of resources and methods for the management of healthcare infrastructure and information This book provides insights on how applied intelligence with deep learning experiential learning and more will impact healthcare and clinical information processing The content explores the representation processing and communication of clinical information in natural and engineered systems This book covers a range of topics including applied intelligence medical imaging telehealth and decision support systems and also looks at technologies and tools used in the detection and diagnosis of medical conditions such as cancers diabetes heart disease lung disease and prenatal syndromes It is an essential reference source for diagnosticians medical professionals imaging specialists data specialists IT consultants medical technologists academicians researchers industrial experts scientists and students Resources in Education ,2001-04 Article 31 [electronic resource] Paulo David, 2006 This volume constitutes a commentary on Article 31 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child It is part of the series A Commentary on the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child which provides an article by article analysis of all substantive organizational and procedural provisions of the CRC and its two Optional Protocols For every article a comparison with related human rights provisions is made followed by an in depth exploration of the nature and scope of State obligations deriving from that article The series constitutes an essential tool for actors in the field of children s rights including academics students judges grassroots workers governmental non governmental and international officers The series is sponsored by the Belgian Federal Science Policy Office Encyclopedia of Education: Race-State James W. Guthrie, 2003 A Study of Interactions Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Program Committee for a Workshop on the Synthesis of Research on Adolescent Health and Development, 2006-05-25 Scholars and adults in general have pondered for centuries the mysterious processes that influence the ways in which children gradually become adults The development of professional organizations and journals devoted to adolescence as well as increasing appreciation in academia and the world of policy for the importance of this phase of life have helped this field catch up with the pace of research on other stages of human development particularly infancy and early childhood The development of a comprehensive review of research on adolescence depends in large part on the perceived need for such a synthesis and the extent to which different research fields as well as policy and practice would benefit from such an effort To address these issues the National Research Council and the Institute of Medicine through the Board on Children Youth and Families held a two day workshop in September 2005 The workshop was designed as an opportunity for an interdisciplinary group to explore the different strands of research that contribute to understanding adolescence In the brief time available the group was not asked to address the entire range of issues related to adolescent health and development but rather to provide an initial explanation of issues that a longer term study might address A Study of Interactions summarizes the major themes discussed at the workshop It begins with an overview of what adolescence is and current views of the processes that shape development in the second decade of life It explores the transdisciplinary research issues already presented in this field as well as issues raised in discussions of goals for the field's future A closing section describes the presenters' thoughts on the feasibility of launching an in depth contextual study that could more firmly establish connections among the many fields of study concerned with adolescence Life-span Human Development Carol K. Sigelman, Elizabeth A. Rider, 2003 By combining the best of topical and chronological approaches this text presents life span development as a motion picture rather than as a series of individual snapshots

Human Development James Wilfrid Vander Zanden, 2003 Improving Intergroup Relations Among Youth Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Forum on Adolescence, 2000-01-01 On November 9-10 1998 the Forum on Adolescence of the Board on Children Youth and Families a cross cutting initiative of the Institute of Medicine and the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences convened a workshop entitled Research to Improve Intergroup Relations Among Youth Held at the request of the Carnegie Corporation of New York this workshop considered selected findings of 16 research projects that have focused on intergroup relations among children and adolescents all 16 received funding from Carnegie Corporation of New York for their work on this issue The funding of these projects was part of a larger research initiative supported by Carnegie Corporation of New York that sought to update and expand the knowledge sources and dynamics of racial and ethnic prejudice among youth identifying approaches to foster intergroup understanding Improving Intergroup Relations Among Youth is the summary of the workshop which provided an opportunity to learn about the work and preliminary findings of the 16 projects This report reviews the knowledge base regarding the effectiveness of interventions designed to promote peaceful respectful relations among youth of different ethnic groups Capute and
