My Golden Flying Years D'Arcy Greig,Simon Muggleton,2011-03-23 This lively funny memoir by a World War I pilot is recommended for its rare view of the RAF in its nascent years and beyond Over the Front Annotated by aviation historian Norman Franks this is the autobiography of an early RAF pilot that conveys the sense of giddy adventure that existed among these elite flyers The story begins in France in late 1918 when D Arcy Greig was flying FE2b night bombers then through the early 1920s as he served in Iraq piloting Bristol Fighters for three years against rebel insurgents and dissident tribesmen Back in England Greig became an instructor at the Central Flying School and finally he records his experiences commanding the RAF s High Speed Flight and participating in the 1929 Schneider Trophy Race This is a highly entertaining and amusing read with Greig being a master of practical joking having fun with explosives and enjoying other hilarious exploits that could only be contrived in these early days of flying He comes into contact with many airmen already famous or who gained future fame and his tale is well illustrated with many new often private family photographs of the time Annual Report United phenomenon of air power was both a cause and a crucial accelerating factor contributing to the theory and practice of total war. For instance, the expansion of warfare to the homefront was a direct result of bombing and indirectly due to the extent of national economic mobilization required to support first rate air power status. In addition, the move away from the principle of total war with the onset of the Cold War and the replacement of air power by ICBMs is thoroughly examined. This work should provide students of international history, war studies, defence and strategic studies with an insight into 20th century warfare.

From Biplane to Spitfire Anne Baker, 2004-02-19. Air Marshal Sir Geoffrey Salmond and his brother Jack joined the Royal Flying Corps during the Great War and both were to have a major influence on the development of the Royal Air Force in the 1920s and 1930s. After a most distinguished war service, Geoffrey the older of the two became one of the original pioneers of long range flight and rose steadily through the ranks. He was one of the first to recognize the importance of high speed flight and the development of the Supermarine S6, the forerunner of the Spitfire. As such, he was closely involved with the Schneider Trophy races of the early 1930s. His successful career also encompassed flights of long range endurance. Extraordinarily, both Jack and Geoffrey rose to become Chiefs of the Air Staff in the mid 1930s. Geoffrey succeeded his brother at the top of his profession only to die in post before he could see the fruits of his labors come to fruition in the Battle of Britain. Without his vision, the RAF might very well not have had the Spitfire and the result would surely have been very different.
