Making Sense of Word Problems Eric de Corte,Brian Greer,Lieven Verschaffel,2000-01-01 Word problems have been a staple of mathematics instruction for centuries yet the rationale for their use has remained largely unexamined A range of findings have shown how students consistently answer them in ways that fail to take account of the reality of the situations described This monograph reports on studies carried out to investigate this suspension of sense making in answering word problems In Part One a wide range of examples documenting the strength of the phenomenon is reviewed Initial surprise at the findings was replaced by a conviction that the explanation lies in the culture of the mathematics classroom specifically the rules implicitly governing the nature and interpretation of the word problem genre This theoretical shift is reflected in Part Two A detailed analysis of the way in which word problems are currently taught in typical mathematical classrooms is followed by reviews of design experiments illustrating how by immersing students in a fundamentally changed learning environment they can acquire what the authors consider to be more appropriate conceptions about and strategies for doing word problems Part Three turns to a wider discussion of theoretical issues a further analysis of the features of the educational system considered responsible for outcomes detrimental to many students understanding and conception of mathematics and suggestions for rethinking the role of word problems within the curriculum

Planet Claire, Suite for Cello and Sad-Eyed Lovers Jeff Porter, 2021-01-05 The second installment in Ann Hood's Gracie Belle imprint challenges the traditional solemnity that characterizes nonfiction books of grief loss and sorrow Few readers will fail to be gripped by this tragically common story about death and what comes after for those left behind A haunting and thought provoking consideration of death and how utterly it rips apart our lives Kirkus Reviews Starred Review Planet Claire is the story of the untimely death of the author's wife and his candid account of the following year of madness and grief As his life unravels Porter analyzes his sadness with growing interest He talks to Claire as if to evoke a presence to mark a space for memory He reports on his daily walks and shares observations of life's sadness while reminiscing about various moments in their life together Like Orpheus the author searches for a lost love and what he finds is not the dog of doom but flashes of an intimate symmetry that brighten the darkest places of sorrow The second title from Ann Hood's Gracie Belle imprint Planet Claire takes readers on a journey of sorrow that recalls memorable works by C S Lewis A Grief Observed Joan Didion The Year of Magical Thinking and Julian Barnes Levels of Life Porter's memoir however is also playful quirky and self ironic in a way that challenges the genre's traditional solemnity Like the novel Grief Is the Thing with Feathers by Max Porter this is an unpredictably funny account of heartbreak as if to say there's something about the magnitude of loss that troubles even earnestness

Smith, 1914 Deck the Donuts Ginger Bolton, 2021-10-26 In the sixth criminally delicious Deputy Donut Mystery series by Ginger Bolton tis the season for the delectable desserts Emily Westhill and her cuddly cat serve up at their donut shop but someone naughty on Santa's list has come to town. It's Christmastime again in Fallingbrook, Wisconsin. Emily has truly decked the halls of her donut shop and decorated her donuts with festive designs from green and red frosting to snowflake sprinkles. For the annual Ice and Lights Festival, she's commissioned a sculpture with three ice-carved donut shapes to form a holey snowman, Frosty the Donut. She has one Christmas wish this year: to spend some time under the mistletoe with a certain detective. But the holidays just aren't the same without an unexpected disaster or two. A tour bus on its way to the festival has crashed, and a snowstorm has left all the shaken passengers stranded and shivering. Emily and her friends open their homes to shelter the traveling families while the bus driver is admitted to the hospital for his injuries. But the following morning, Emily discovers his body buried beneath Frosty the Donut. The bus passengers show little sympathy for the man who dashed through the snow so badly, some claiming he was under the influence while behind the wheel. Emily also discovers that the driver had a history with folks in Fallingbrook. With multiple motives for murder piling up, it will take a Christmas miracle for Emily to solve this crime.

Merchant Vessels of the United States, United States Coast Guard, 1981 Merchant Vessels of the United States, 1981 Wade Hampton Frost, Pioneer Epidemiologist, 1880-1938 Thomas M. Daniel, 2004

Wade Hampton Frost was the first Professor of Epidemiology at Johns Hopkins University in the first Department of Epidemiology in the United States. A Virginian and a graduate of the University of Virginia, Frost began his remarkable career with two decades of service in the United States Public Health Service. He investigated epidemics of yellow fever, typhoid, polio, streptococcal sore throat, meningitis, and influenza. His greatest contributions during this part of his career were the recognition that mild and asymptomatic childhood polio produced life-long immunity and the development of methods for tracking influenza epidemics. He was recruited to Johns Hopkins in 1919, where as a professor at the School of Hygiene and Public Health, he trained many of the future leaders of American public health programs. He made substantial contributions to epidemiologic methodology, including developing the concept of an index case during investigations of tuberculosis in Tennessee, the use of life table methods for estimating secondary attack rates, the use of age cohorts for longitudinal studies, and in collaboration with Lowell Reed, the first mathematical expression of the epidemic curve. Thomas M. Daniel's biography tells the story of Frost's life and work. Drawing of Frost's personal papers and recorded interviews with his colleagues deposited in the Frost Archives at the University of Virginia Medical Center, as well as material from the Fauquier County Heritage Society and Johns Hopkins University, Daniel recounts the story of Frost's life and provides many insights into the personal characteristics of his subject. Daniel also reviews Frost's work, examining his published papers and archived teaching notes to elucidate the scope of and manner in which Frost made his seminal contributions to epidemiology and public health.

George Comstock, Emeritus Centennial Alumni Professor of Epidemiology at Johns Hopkins, has provided an introduction. Thomas M. Daniel is Professor Emeritus of Medicine.
