Australian Beach Cultures Douglas Booth,2012-12-06 Australians are surrounded by beaches But this enclosure is more than a geographical fact for the inhabitants of an island continent the beach is an integral part of the cultural envelope This work analyzes the history of the beach as an integral aspect of Australian culture Tourism and Australian Beach

Cultures Christine Metusela,Gordon Waitt,2012 This book explores the ever changing relationships between bodies oceans beaches and tourism Drawing on feminist scholarship the book focuses on the emergence of Australian beach cultures beyond metropolitan centres from the early 19th century to the early 20th century on the Illawarra beaches some 80 kilometres south of Sydney Australian Plays for the Colonial Stage Richard Fotheringham,Angela Turner,2006 Contains places of contact play confrontation and friction first comers always arrive on a beach After Europeans moved into the Antipodes the coast was the first frontier to be defined Flinders circumnavigation in 1802 had mapped Australia revealing the land as girt by sea as the national anthem continues to remind us All kinds of ideas about the coast beaches sea changes holiday places and islands swirl and eddy in this unique collection of writing Australian Popular Culture Ian

Recreational Uses of Coastal Areas P. Fabbri, 2012-12-06 Human clustering in coastal areas The coastal zone has gained a solid reputation as a place vocated for recreational activities and this is generally related to the presence of the sea The relationship however does not appear univocal or simple the sea can be perceived as a hostile element by humans and the more general question of whether the presence of the shore is in itself a favourable repulsive or irrelevant factor to settlement is a debatable point at least for pre industrial societies Back in the early part of the 19th century Friedrich Hegel regarded oceans and rivers as unifying elements rather than dividing ones thus implying a trend towards the concentration of human settlements along them The sea he wrote stimulates 1 courage and conquest as well as profit and plunder although he realized that this did not equally apply to all maritime peoples In Hegel s view different approaches to the sea were mainly the results of cultural factors and in fact he recognized that some people living in coastal areas perceive the sea as a dangerous and alien place and the shore as aftnis terrae

The Australian Experience R. L. Heathcote, 1988 The 26th International Geographical

Congress the first to be held in Australia was held in Sydney in August 1988 and provided the initial stimulus for this book In it twenty six geographers have contributed essays to illustrate the scope of the unique processes of land settlement and resource management which have taken place on the continent over the last two hundred years The essays cover a wide range of themes from the roles of international political theory international capital and international relations on the one hand to the roles of federal and state governments and the conservation lobby on the other from the attempts to come to terms with the environmental constraints of this wide brown land to the environmental impacts of intensive often destructive resource management and finally from demography to the social role of cricket and the future role of the nation in its region The scope of these essays is a reminder not only of the complex linkages which have created the current Australian landscape but also of the geographers role in interpreting those linkages for contemporary society p 4 of cover Who's who of Australian Writers ,1995 Australian Books National Library of Australia,1983
