Grindhouse Austin Fisher,Johnny Walker,2016-09-22 The pervasive image of New York s 42nd Street as a hub of sensational thrills vice and excess is from where grindhouse cinema the focus of this volume stemmed It is arguably an image that has remained unchanged in the mind s eye of many exploitation film fans and academics alike Whether in the pages of fanzines or scholarly works it is often recounted how should one have walked down this street between the 1960s and the 1980s one would have undergone a kaleidoscopic encounter with an array of disparate exploitation films from all over the world that were being offered cheaply to urbanites by a swathe of vibrant movie theatres The contributors to Grindhouse Cultural Exchange on 42nd Street and Beyond consider grindhouse cinema from a variety of cultural and methodological positions Some seek to deconstruct the etymology of grindhouse itself add flesh to the bones of its cadaverous history or examine the term s contemporary relevance in the context of both media production and consumerism Others offer new inroads into hitherto unexamined examples of exploitation film history presenting snapshots of cultural moments that many of us thought we already knew

Cinema Inferno Robert G. Weiner,John Cline,2010-07-17 Cinema Inferno Celluloid Explosions from the Cultural Margins addresses significant areas and eras of transgressive filmmaking including many subgenres and styles that have not yet received much critical attention This collection of essays covers both contemporary films and those produced in the last 50 years to provide a theoretical framework for looking at transgressive cinema and what that means This volume begins with a number of essays that examine the aesthetic of realism tracing it through the late Italian Neo Realism of Pasolini the early films of Melvin Van Peebles and Canadian filmmaker Guy Maddin Another section focuses on 70s Italian horror and thrillers including a substantially different examination of filmmaker Dario Argento as well as essays on critically underrepresented directors Lucio Fulci and Sergio Martino A section on New York looks at both radical independents like Troma and Andy Milligan as well as the social context from which a view of the metropolis in decay emerged Sections also cover the experimental work of the Vienna Action Group and controversial filmmaker Michael Haneke as well as films and genres too idiosyncratic and disturbing to fit anywhere else including analyses of Nazi propaganda films fundamentalist Christian scare movies and postwar Japanese youth films The final essays try to come to terms with a mainstream flirtation with transgressive film and Grindhouse aesthetics

La Dolce Morte Mikel J. Koven,2006-10-02 With the exception of die hard aficionados of European or Italian horror cinema most people may not have heard of giallo cinema or have seen many films in this subgenre of horror Most academic film studies tend to ignore horror cinema in general and the giallo specifically Critics often deride these films which reveal more about the reviewers own prejudices than any problem with the works themselves As a counter to such biases Mikel J Koven argues for an alternative approach to studying these films by approaching them as vernacular cinema distinct from popular cinema According to Koven to look at a film from a vernacular perspective removes the assumptions about what constitutes a good film and how a particular film is in some way artistic In La Dolce Morte Vernacular Cinema and the Italian Giallo Film Koven explores the history and evolution of this aspect of cinema and places these films within the context of Italian popular filmmaking He addresses various themes motifs and tropes in these films their use of space the murders the role of the detective the identity of the killer issues of belief excess and the set piece In addition to being the first academic study of the giallo film in English this book surveys more than fifty films of this subgenre In addition to filmmakers like Mario Bava and Dario Argento Koven also looks at the films of Lucio Fulci Sergio Martino Pupi Avati Umberto Lenzi and others In all the works of twenty five different filmmakers are considered in this book Also explored are the inter relationships between these films how one influences others how certain filmmakers take ideas and build off of them and how those ideas are further transformed by other filmmakers Koven also explores the impact of the giallo on the later North American slasher genre

Gutter Auteur Rob Craig, 2012-12-01 Grindhouse filmmaker Andy Milligan has been the subject of a revealing biography and boasts a grassroots fan base but his remarkable work has thus far received no serious critical overview Working virtually alone on infinitesimal budgets often using a used 16mm newsreel camera Milligan crafted some of the most unique melodramas of the 1960s and 1970s Often mounted as period pieces using costumes sewn by the filmmaker Milligan's gritty bizarre films come across as inimitable meldings of the avant garde theater of Jean Genet the experimental films of Jack Smith and the random cinema verite of a lunatic with a home movie camera Yet Milligan's films are anything but random ruminating at length on profound sociocultural themes of the day including the emptiness of the sexual revolution Evident throughout all the films are two pet themes a rabid deconstruction of the heterosexual paradigm and a grotesque illumination of the family as breeder of dysfunction

Money Jungle Benjamin Chesluk, 2007-09-11 For more than a century Times Square has mesmerized the world with the spectacle of its dazzling supersigns its theaters and its often seedy nightlife New York City's iconic crossroads has drawn crowds of revelers thrill seekers and other urban denizens not to mention lavish outpourings of advertising and development money Many have hotly debated the recent transformation of this legendary intersection with voices typically falling into two opposing camps Some applaud a blighted red light district becoming a big budget mainstream destination Others lament an urban zone of lawless possibility being replaced by a Disneyfied theme park version of New York In Money Jungle Benjamin Chesluk shows that what is really at stake in Times Square are fundamental questions about city life questions of power pleasure and what it means to be a citizen in contemporary urban space Chesluk weaves together surprising stories of everyday life in and around the Times Square redevelopment tracing the connections between people from every level of this grand project in social and spatial engineering the developers architects and designers responsible for reshaping the urban public spaces of Times Square and Forty second Street the experimental Midtown Community Court and its Times Square Ink job training program for misdemeanor criminals encounters between NYPD officers and residents of Hell's Kitchen and angry confrontations between city planners and neighborhood activists over the future of the area With an eye for offbeat telling details and a perspective that is at once sympathetic and critical Chesluk documents how the redevelopment has tried sometimes successfully and sometimes not to reshape the people and places of Times Square The result is a colorful and engaging portrait illustrated by stunning photographs by long time local photographer Maggie Hopp of the street life politics economics and cultural forces that mold America's urban centers
