Gascoigne, Jenni Metcalfe, Bernard Schiele, Shunke Shi, 2008-07-15 Science communication as a multidisciplinary field has developed remarkably in recent years It is now a distinct and exceedingly dynamic science that melds theoretical approaches with practical experience Formerly well established theoretical models now seem out of step with the social reality of the sciences and the previously clear cut delineations and interacting domains between cultural fields have blurred

Communicating Science in Social Contexts examines that shift which itself depicts a profound recomposition of knowledge fields activities and dissemination practices and the value accorded to science and technology Communicating Science in Social Contexts is the product of long term effort that would not have been possible without the research and expertise of the Public Communication of Science and Technology PCST Network and the editors For nearly 20 years this informal international network has been organizing events and forums for discussion of the public communication of science

Governance Reform Under Real-World Conditions Sina Odugbemi, Thomas Jacobson, 2008-06-13 Although necessary and often first rate technocratic solutions alone have been ineffective in delivering real change or lasting results in governance reforms This is primarily because reform programs are delivered not in controlled environments but under complex diverse sociopolitical and economic conditions Real world conditions In political societies ownership of reform programs by the entire country cannot be assumed public opinion will not necessarily be benign and coalitions of support may be scarce or nonexistent even when intended reforms really will benefit those who need them most While the development community has the technical tools to address governance challenges experience shows that technical solutions are often insufficient Difficulties arise when attempts are made to apply what are often excellent technical solutions Human beings either acting alone or in groups small and large are not as amenable as are pure numbers and they cannot be ignored In the real world reforms will not succeed and they will certainly not be sustained without the correct alignment of citizens stakeholders and voice Governance Reform under Real World Conditions Citizens Stakeholders and Voice is a contribution to efforts to improve governance systems around the world particularly in developing countries The contributors who are academics and development practitioners provide a range of theoretical frameworks and innovative approaches and techniques for dealing with the most important nontechnical or adaptive challenges that impede the success and sustainability of reform efforts The editors and contributors hope that this book will be a useful guide for governments think tanks civil society organizations and development agencies working to improve the ways in which governance reforms are implemented around the world

Communicated Stereotype From Celebrity Vilification to Everyday Talk argues that a consequential interactional dilemma is enacted when people communicate stereotypes in everyday talk. The interactional dilemma is a result of the tension between a political correctness movement that prescribes against the communication of stereotypes and the benefits gained from communicating these in conversation. Despite the punishment and shame that befalls celebrities who communicate stereotypes, people continue to communicate stereotypes in everyday conversation, often evoking little if any outrage. The Communicated Stereotype advances previous theory and research related to group categorization, stereotype maintenance, and functional discourse analytic and critical approaches by demonstrating the process whereby the vilification of celebrities diverts attention from the everyday communication of stereotypes and emboldens people to communicate stereotypes without self-criticism. The way this interactional dilemma is handled in conversation helps to explain why stereotypes are maintained over time within a culture despite deterrents intended to dissuade people from using them. An appreciation of stereotypes as poor communication choices provides the potential for the reduction of stereotype use.
