Eating Disorders in Contemporary French Women's Writing Lucille Cairns, 2023-05-15 Eating Disorders in Contemporary French Women's Writing examines the most common types of Eating Disorders EDs anorexia nervosa bulimia nervosa bulimarexia and binge eating disorder as represented in contemporary French women's literature The primary corpus comprises 40 autobiographical and very occasionally autofictional texts complemented by ample reference and sometimes challenge to clinical medically researched based or theoretical publications on EDs

Eating Disorders and Child Sexual Abuse Lisa Hodge, 2021-03-10 This book takes up the challenge of examining women's understandings of eating disorders and child sexual abuse away from a framework focused on pathology The central argument is that women's distress is an enactment of their engagement with certain discourses and practices rather than a reaction triggered by child sexual abuse Guided by a contemporary feminist framework and Mikhail Bakhtin's sociological linguistics to substantiate the argument women's own poetry and drawings are used as evidence to develop support and supplement research findings The book establishes that an eating disorder is an understandable response to sexual trauma and shifts the focus away from a damaged personality Even more importantly it demonstrates that women with eating disorders are using their bodies as a form of resistance to express silenced traumas that remain in the silenced female body This is an active way of making sense of experiences of child sexual abuse

Embodied Resistance Chris Bobel,Samantha Kwan,2011-09-15 Ethnographies about transgressing social expectations of the body

Beyond Pleasure Evert Peeters,Leen Van Molle,Kaat Wils,2011-04-01 Asceticism so it is argued in this volume is a modern category The ubiquitous cult of the body of fitness and diet equally evokes the ongoing success of ascetic practices and beliefs Nostalgic memories of hardship and discipline in the army youth movements or boarding schools remain as present as the fashionable irritation with the presumed modern day laziness In the very texture of contemporary culture age old asceticism proves to be remarkably alive Old ascetic forms were remoulded to serve modern desires for personal authenticity an authenticity that disconnected asceticism in the course of the nineteenth century from two traditions that had underpinned it since classical antiquity the public republican austerity of antiquity and the private religious asceticism of Christianity Exploring various aspects such as the history of the body of aesthetics science and social thought in several European countries Great Britain France Germany Austria and Belgium the authors show that modern asceticism remains a deeply ambivalent category Apart from self realisation classical and religious examples continue to haunt the ascetic mind
