The New Era of Global Competition Daniel Drache, Meric S. Gertler, 1991 The increasing globalization of production and the conservative agenda for market led growth are dramatically affecting the life of the average Canadian and the choices made by social and economic policy makers As Daniel Drache Meric Gertler and the contributing authors show the worldwide reorganization of markets poses new challenges for domestic industry while continental trade initiatives threaten the livelihood of Canadian workers and the stability of communities across all regions of the country Environmental quality is similarly at risk from development strategies driven more by possibilities of short term gain from export sales than by attempts to promote long term sustainability

Technology and the Rise of Great Powers Jeffrey Ding, 2024-08-20 Technological revolutions have long been understood as one of the key factors affecting the rise of great powers Yet when these dynamics have been studied the focus tends to be on the moment of innovation where was a key technology invented In this book Jeffrey Ding argues that it is not innovation but rather the way a technology diffuses through a country that determines whether and how it strengthens the state The result is a new way to consider how technology and power have played out over history and what this might mean for the future To make this case Ding first outlines a new theory that centers on not the creation of new technology but its spread across society looking specifically at the role of education in promoting technological skill and literacy He then shows how this approach changes our understanding of three canonical cases Britain's rise during the first industrial revolution America's rise during the second industrial revolution and Japan's rise and decline during the third industrial revolution He then expands out to consider what this theory would predict for the coming competition between the United States and China in an AI driven fourth industrial revolution The result is an ambitious wide ranging take on how technology shapes world order Provided by publisher

The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government

Perspectives in Industrial Organization B. Dankbaar, John Groenewegen, H. Schenk, 2012-12-06 This book contains the key note lectures and a selection of papers that were presented at the 15th Conference of the European Association for Research in Industrial Economics EARIE held under the auspices of GRASP at Erasmus University Rotterdam in 1988 plus an introductory chapter by the Editors Upon suggestions by the Editors all papers have been revised for this book some more extensively than others Robin Marris has added to his lecture a synopsis of the contributions to the Round Table on the Micro Macro Interface which he chaired during the Conference The papers cover issues that seem to be both interesting and relevant for the 1990s While some of the papers are cast in a rather established research frame enabling the use of regular academic routines others are first attempts at delineating the contours of areas that are peripheral to what is often considered as the core of Industrial Organization In their introductory chapter the Editors set forth that a neglect of those areas may well relegate Industrial Organization to social irrelevancy Therefore it is hoped that the book will also contribute to a reflection on the main lines of Industrial Organization research for the 1990s thus helping to create a healthy perspective for this part of economics at a time when macroeconomics is undergoing a severe crisis
