Studies programs are currently debated within the Academy and the Administration where they are often treated as one homogenous and stagnant domain of scholarship. The essays in this volume document the various fields' distinctive character and internal heterogeneity as well as the dynamism resulting from their evolving engagements with funders, US and international politics and domestic constituencies. The authors were chosen for their long standing interest in the intellectual evolution of their fields. They describe the origins and histories of US based Area Studies programs highlighting their complex generative and sometimes contentious relationships with the social science and humanities disciplines and their diverse contributions to the regions of the world with which they are concerned.

Japanese Gardens Seiko Goto, Takahiro Naka, 2015-10-16. The unique beauty of the Japanese garden stems from its spirituality and rich symbolism yet most discussions on this kind of garden rarely provide more than a superficial overview. This book takes a thorough look at the process of designing a Japanese garden placing it in a historical and philosophical context. Goto and Naka, both academic experts in Japanese garden history and design, explore the themes and usage of the Japanese garden. Common garden types such as tea and Zen gardens. Key maintenance techniques and issues. Featuring beautiful full colour images and a glossary of essential Japanese terms, this book will dramatically transform your understanding of the Japanese garden as a cultural treasure.

Classical World Literatures Wiebke Denecke, 2014. Ever since Karl Jaspers's axial age paradigm there have been a number of influential studies comparing ancient East Asian and Greco-Roman history and culture. However to date there has been no comparative study involving multiple literary traditions in these cultural spheres. This book compares the dynamics between the younger literary cultures of Japan and Rome and the literatures of their venerable predecessors China and Greece. How were writers of the younger cultures of Rome and Japan affected by the presence of an older reference culture whose sophistication they admired even as they anxiously strove to assert their own distinctive identity? How did they tackle the challenge of adopting the reference culture's literary genres, rhetorical refinement and conceptual vocabulary for writing texts in different languages and within distinct political and cultural contexts? Classical World Literatures captures the striking similarities between the ways early Japanese authors wrote their own literature through and against the literary precedents of China and the ways Latin writers engaged and contested Greek precedents. But it also brings to light suggestive divergences that are rooted in geopolitical, linguistic, sociohistorical and aesthetic differences between early Japanese and Roman literary cultures. Proposing a methodology of deep comparison for the cross-cultural comparison of premodern literary cultures and calling for an expansion of world literature debates into the ancient and medieval worlds, Classical World Literatures is both a theoretical intervention and an invitation to read and re-read four major literary traditions in an innovative and illuminating light.
