Interactions of Energy and Climate W. Bach,J. Pankrath,J. Williams,2012-12-06 Since the beginning of industrialization in the last century a steady increase in energy consumption can be observed At the same time energy generation switched from wood and coal to predominantly oil coal and natural gas Soon many countries became aware of the fact that the resources of fossil fuels especially of oil and natural gas are finite Diversification of energy sources became a requirement for the future Governments expressed their concern by setting up natural energy programmes while international organisations undertook assessments of the global energy resources and possible rates of supply and substitution When it comes to setting up energy policies the following factors must be taken into consideration population growth level and nature of socio economic activity the costs of energy the adequacy and reliability of supply the availability of technology and supporting infrastructure the success of energy conservation programmes and concern about the environment safety aspects of production and use of energy as well as educational efforts toward a rational use of energy When we express our most urgent concern the long term global energy provision experts offer four interrelated partial strategies the strategy of rational use and conservation of energy the strategy of using renewable energy sources the coal strategy including coal gasification and liquefaction the nuclear power strategy Any strategy however for securing future energy supply has from my point of view to be thoroughly examined as to its impact on the environment

Nuclear Power Costs United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Operations. Environment, Energy, and Natural Resources Subcommittee, 1977 Government and Environmental Politics Michael J. Lacey, 1989 Government and Environmental Politics details the emergence of the new social values that gave rise to the environmental movement and examines the federal government's response to the changing ideas and needs of the American people Chapters describe such topics as postwar environmental politics the environmental lobbies development of the publicly owned national park and recreation system federal protection of endangered species official promotion of nuclear energy and regulation of toxic substances The contributors are Malcolm Forbes Baldwin Thomas R Dunlap Frank Gregg Samuel P Hays Michael J Lacey Robert Cameron Mitchell Joseph L Sax Christopher Schroeder and Michael Smith Book jacket

Tending Nature Nathalie Gravel, 2024-10-25 This book aims to enhance understanding of the foundational principles and ethical considerations of citizen engagement in environmental conservation through an examination of successful cases of shared environmental governance in the Americas It seeks to inform policymaking on strategies for fostering behavioral change and advancing towards co management of national public resources and the commons These cases are analyzed through a geographical lens to provide a framework for reimagining eco citizenship grounded in bioregionalism This perspective diverges from the notion of eco citizenship as a universal culture advocating instead for its integration within the collective habitats of citizen groups Readers will gain insights into fostering reconciliation between nature and humanity by empowering diverse stakeholders to lead Blue Green Bee conservation initiatives Emphasizing community learning environmental awareness and citizen participation the book enriches decision making processes and promotes environmental justice for all living organisms The selected case studies from Brazil Canada Costa Rica Mexico and the United States highlight pioneering innovations in Blue Green Bee policy planning across urban periurban and rural settings These initiatives propose empathetic and respectful approaches to nurturing our natural surroundings including methods for co management networked urban gardening wild native bee conservation water source protection community based water management river revitalization and metropolitan green space stewardship This book will be invaluable to students urban and rural planners researchers academics networking professionals policymakers international development practitioners environmental organization personnel and enthusiasts of the natural world alike
